Adenauer Victory Sign of Atom Arms

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

DUSSELDORF, Germany (AP)

An election victory for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats in West Germany's largest state was seen today as an endorsement of his plans to provide the nation's new army with atomic weapons.

Hot Political Issue

The Christian Democrats regained control of the Provincial Parliament of North Rhine-Westphalia Sunday in the first popular test of the nuclear armament program. It has become West Germany's hottest political issue since Adenauer's party won the national elections again almost 10 months ago.

Only the provincial administration of this big industrial and agricultural state was at stake, but the opposition Socialists keyed their campaign to Adenauer's plans to accept the Atlantic Allies' offer of nuclear arms.

Different Views

The Socialists claimed atomic armament would put West Germany so squarely in the Western camp that all hope of reuniting with Communist East Germany by negotiations would be lost. They raised the specter of atomic warfare, while the Christian Democrats played on fears of communism and hammered home their theme of postwar prosperity. The Christian Democrats moved from a minority position of 89 seats in the 200-member Provincial Parliament to firm control with 104 seats. The Socialists advanced, but not as far, from 76 to 81 seats.

Adenauer's party actually lost 5 per cent of the popular vote from its high point in the state last September's general elections. The Socialists gained almost 6 per cent from last year's low of 33.5 per cent. The Christian Democrats polled 50.5 per cent.

Principal Loser

The principal loser was the Free Democrat party, which dropped from 27 seats to 15.

Two splinter groups, the neo-Nazi German Reich party and the Catholic Center party, lost their seats entirely by polling less than 5 per cent of the popular vote. The Communists have been outlawed for two years.

This was the popular vote (with percentages of the vote in the 1954 state election in parentheses):

Christian Democrats 4,011,122 or 50.5 per cent (41.3 per cent in 1954); Socialists 3,115,934 or 39.2 per cent (34.5); Free Democrats 556,274 or 7.1 per cent (11.3); The Center party 33,733; the German party 125,044; the German Reich party 43,890; and the German Union 176.

Castro Still Holds 36 Americans, 1 Canadian

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)

Fidel Castro's rebels still held 36 U. S. citizens and one Canadian today. Hope continued that the release would be speeded up.

There were strong indications, however, that the rebels were in no hurry because the presence of the Americans in the rebel camps has brought a halt to air attacks by the forces of President Fulgencio Batista.

4 Americans Freed

Four American civilians and one Canadian were brought by U. S. Navy helicopter to the Guantanamo naval base Sunday. The rebels freed four Americans and a Canadian last Wednesday and three Americans Saturday night.

One of those released Sunday, John N. Schissler, Montgomery, Ala., said arrangements are being made to send trucks into the jungled mountains for the 30 U. S. sailors and Marines kidnapped from near the Navy base.

Continue Talks

Park Wollam, U. S. consul in Santiago, continued his negotiations with rebel leader Raul Castro, Fidel's brother, who directed the kidnappings.

"Castro told us . . . there still were many more things to be discussed before all the captives could go," Schissler reported.

The motive for the kidnappings reportedly was to pressure the United States not to supply Batista's forces with fuel or ammunition. Schissler expressed belief that Wollam has convinced Raul Castro the United States is not aiding the government forces trying to put down the rebellion.

Good Protection

But Raul was quoted as saying, "The Cuban army won't drop any bombs while the Americans are here. They are very good 50mm. antiaircraft protection."

All five men released Sunday were employees of the American-owned Moa Bay Mining Co., which is preparing to develop nickel and cobalt deposits in northeast Cuba. The men were Schissler, Prof. E. P. Pfeider, head of the mining engineering department at the University of Minnesota; Edward H. Cordes, Farwood, N. J.; Roman Cecilia, a Cuban-born naturalized American from New York City; and Harold G. Christianson, Geraldton, Man.

Those Released

Released Saturday night were Alfred F. Smith, Laconia, N. H.; Harley F. Sparks, Frankfurt, Ind.; and Jesse G. Ford, Dillon, S. C. All were abducted from the United Fruit Co. sugar plantation at Guaro.

All those released have been in good shape and reported the rebels treated them well.

Scientist Dies Before Talk on Virus Cancers

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

AP Science Writer

LONDON (AP) — Viruses, the scientist used to say in his soft, almost musical voice, viruses seem to be the basic cause of cancer.

And in a lifetime of research Dr. Francisco Duran-Reynals produced point after point of evidence that viruses could indeed be the culprit or at least the most important culprit.

He theorized viruses might sleep harmlessly in the body for years until something—age, injury or a change in the body's chemistry—suddenly awoke them to change the living cells and start cancers.

The Spanish-born American scientist was to have spoken to the seventh International Cancer Congress, which opened here today attended by nearly 2,000 scientists from 64 countries.

But Duran-Reynals died a few months ago, a victim of the very disease he fought.

A brief abstract printed today in the congress proceedings details the latest work he had done at Yale University with virus experiments on mice.

The abstract is partly his last tribute. But a bigger tribute comes from the fact that more and more scientists are swinging to the virus theory of cancer, a theory largely ignored during Duran-Reynals' lifetime.

Recent evidence in several countries is adding to the picture that viruses could be involved in at least some kinds of human cancers. If they are, perhaps vaccines or other controls against them can be devised.

Another main attack is aimed at producing anticancer drugs based on discoveries of the tiny but significant differences between cancer and healthy cells. The idea is to get the drugs to jam the machinery of the cancer cells.

This approach has led to drugs which have had some successes against a few kinds of cancer.

36 Lose Lives in New York

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Thirty-six persons who looked forward last week to a Fourth of July holiday in New York State were dead today—victims of accidents.

Despite a sun that sulked behind heavy overcast much of the time, thousands of fun-seekers jammed the state's highways and resorts. Twenty-three died in traffic mishaps. Nine were drowned. Four met death in other accidents, during the three days and a night that began at 6 p. m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The days generally were hot and muggy. Rain, and sometimes thundershowers, pelted many areas. Patches of fog made night driving difficult.

Little Difference

Yet, the death toll was little different from a usual long weekend. Over the Memorial Day weekend, which also spanned three days, 36 died, including 26 in traffic.

During a four-day Fourth last year, there were 50 deaths, including 31 in traffic and 11 by drowning.

Rescuer Drowns

Two of the weekend drowning victims were a 15-year-old boy and a 57-year-old housepainter who tried to rescue him from a farm pond near Fredonia Sunday.

Robert Sortore, who lived on the farm, went to the rescue after he saw Edwin Getselman of Fredonia jump off a diving board and then disappear.

Two Killed at Liberty

Two women were killed at Liberty Sunday when struck by an automobile while they were en route to church. A third woman was injured.

The dead were Mrs. Frank Radle, 53, of Scranton, Pa., and Mrs. Lillian Clark, 63, of Liberty. Police said a car driven by Mrs. Teresa Benevento, 36, of Brooklyn, skidded when she applied the brakes because of fog. She was not held.

Rail Mishap

A railroad fireman, William F. Kanecht, 55, of Hudson, was killed Saturday night in New York City when a New York Central freight train crashed into the rear of another freight that had been stopped by railroad ties piled on the tracks by vandals.

Other deaths, by community, reported since noon Saturday:

Schiller—Mrs. Frances Bowers, 53, Rochester, died Saturday night when a car in which she was riding hit a utility pole.

Tupper Lake—Philip W. Perron, struck by a tractor-trailer Saturday.

Sandy Creek — Duane Barkley, 16, Syracuse, car overturned on a dirt road Saturday.

Stillwater — Victor Laverdiere, 27, Cohoes, his motorcycle and a car collided Saturday.

Troy — Mrs. Loretta Moak, 64, Cohoes, two-car collision Saturday night.

Six Are Injured In Seven County Weekend Mishaps

Ulster County was free of traffic fatalities over the long holiday weekend and fortunately did not follow the grim highway pattern set throughout the nation, but six persons were injured in seven vehicular mishaps reported by area police.

Lina Marie Rosenkrantz, 23, of High Falls, was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment of a scalp wound, abrasions and chest injuries suffered about 6 p. m. Saturday when the car she was operating went out of control at Lawrenceville as she was proceeding north of Route 213. The car left the road and struck a tree, state police reported.

2-Car Collision

At 6:25 o'clock Sunday evening two cars collided on 9W at Malden Four Corners. The driver of one was arrested for failing to observe a stop sign and a three year old child and her grandmother were treated at Benedictine Hospital and released. The car of Preston True, 18, Saugerties, failed to stop at the intersection and, according to state police, struck the car of Mrs. Anna Oliver, 57, of West Camp. Cheryl Van Etten, 3, Saugerties received a head injury. True was driving east on the Malden Road when the accident happened. True was taken before Justice William D. Brinnier and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of failing to observe the stop sign. Imposition of sentence was set for Thursday.

At 9:15 p. m. Sunday Howard Humphrey, 30, of Lake Katrine, reported to state police that his car had been struck at the junction of Route 28 and Sawkill Road by a car, believed to be a 1958 Ford car, which failed to stop.

Reds Free 9 Airmen On Border Transport Forced Down in Armenia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today released nine U. S. airmen whose military transport was forced down inside Soviet Armenia 11 days ago.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. said the men were turned over to U. S. authorities on the Soviet-Iranian border.

This left nine U. S. Army men in the hands of Communist East Germans. Their helicopter strayed into East Germany June 7.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported that the airmen released from Armenia were delivered to a U. S. Army representative at the border town of Astara. This is in the Azerbaijan region just west of the Caspian Sea.

The nine are:

Col. Dale D. Brannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Brannon, Chardon, Ohio.

Maj. Luther W. Lyles; wife, Donna J. Lyles, overseas; mother, Carrie F. Lyles, Savoy, Tex.

Maj. Robert E. Crans; wife, Martha W. Crans, Macon, Mo.

Maj. Bennie A. Shupe; wife, Mrs. Majorie C. Shupe, Miami, Fla.; parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Shupe, Miami.

Capt. James T. Kane; two sisters, Rosemary McKenna, Farmingdale, N. Y., and Margaret Kane, Lindenhurst, N. Y.

Lt. James N. Luther; wife, Mrs. Joan Luther, overseas; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Luther, Waseca, Minn.

Sgt. James G. Holman; wife, Mary M. Holman, overseas; parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Holman, Vivian, La.

Airman Earl H. Reamer; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron von Reamer, St. Louis Park, Minn.

Airman Peter N. Sabo; parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sabo, Chicago, Ill.

Their plane, a C-118 transport, was forced to land by Soviet fighter craft. According to the Soviet announcement made the same day the plane burned on the ground—whether because of fighter action or because its crew wished to keep it out of Soviet hands was not made clear.

The U. S. S. R. officially protested the flight over Soviet territory as a frontier violation. The United States replied there had been no such intention and that the transport became lost in bad weather.

Missile Center Installs New Launching Control

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) An advanced control system designed to handle more launchings at a smoother pace has been installed at the Air Force missile test center.

It was reported that the new system will be capable of directing the lengthy countdowns for three missiles simultaneously. Up to now it was feasible to control only one launching at a time.

The new equipment also will eliminate many of the long delays during the preliminary check-out of a missile prior to launching, officials said.

Extended State Weather Picture

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Here are the extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today, to 7 p. m. Saturday:

Eastern New York — Temperatures are expected to average around summer seasonal levels with somewhat cooler trend Wednesday and Thursday. Warm and humid at the beginning and at the end of the week. Scattered showers and thundershowers mostly in the afternoon or evening are likely at the beginning and end of the weekend. Total rainfall near one inch or more.

Western New York — Seasonable weather is indicated. Temperatures are expected to average near normal or slightly below. No pronounced temperature change throughout. Thundershowers early Tuesday, followed by partial clearing. Generally fair Wednesday. Another period of thundershowers on Thursday or Friday. One inch or more of rain is likely.

Total 636

Cautious driving by millions of home-bound motorists held the nation's July 4th weekend holiday traffic toll well below the pre-holiday estimate of 410.

Although late reports were expected to boost the total of dead somewhat, it appeared that the final count would be below the record toll forecast by the National Safety Council for a three-day holiday period.

Mishaps Taper Off

Fatal highway mishaps got off to a fast start but tapered off commencing Saturday afternoon after early reports indicated the holiday would end with a new record of traffic dead.

The Safety Council attributed the lower death toll to energetic traffic enforcement and the shock of the skyrocketing death toll during the early hours of the holiday.

371 New Record

However, it appears the final count will be close to the number killed during the recent Memorial Day holiday period. The 371 traffic deaths for the three-day Memorial Day period set a new record for the holiday.

Thus, the traffic death toll for the first two long weekend holidays this year was more than 725. During the first five months this year traffic deaths averaged 88 per day.

Council Estimates 410

The National Safety Council had estimated the 410 traffic death toll for the 78-hour period starting at 6 p. m. (local time) Thursday and ending last midnight. The record high traffic toll for a three-day July 4 holiday period was 407 set in 1955 while the record low since World War II was 225 deaths in 1947.

The holiday was marred by several multiple traffic accidents (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

Old Sex Offender Says He Slew Boy

PORT JERVIS, N. Y. (AP)—

A Port Jervis man, arrested 12 years ago on a charge of molesting a child, has admitted the sex slaying of 10-year-old John Dudko.

Authorities said Donald Kurtz, 34, also admitted Sunday that he slashed a 9-year-old boy across the stomach with a razor blade a little more than a month ago.

Questioned Half Hour

Young Dudko's disemboweled body was found Saturday beneath a rock slab on a steep hill in Neversink Drive woods. He had last been seen on a July Fourth fishing trip on the Delaware River.

Kurtz, one of several questioned shortly after the boy's body was found, admitted the slaying after 30 minutes' questioning. Orange County Dist. Atty. Abraham S. Isseks said.

Kurtz was charged with first-degree murder. He waived examination and was ordered held without bail in the county jail.

Earlier Case Closed

The prisoner, short, slightly built and balding, is a veteran, unmarried and unemployed.

Isseks said Kurtz told him he lured the Dudko boy to his death by promising to show him a good place to fish.

Kurtz was quoted as saying he had the boy sniff carbon tetrachloride, which made him unconscious, and then attacked him sexually and slashed him across the abdomen with a knife-like instrument.

After an autopsy, authorities said the stomach incision caused the boy to bleed to death.

Arrested In 1946

The Dudko boy, son of a local couple, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Dudko, was found naked except for a pair of sneakers. His body was covered by leaves; his mouth and nose were filled with sticks.

Kurtz' arrest, authorities said, also cleared up the mysterious case of Dwight Pericone, 9-year-old local boy found last June 2 after being missing four days. The child was incoherent about his experience.

He was found near the spot where young Dudko's body was discovered by Joe Lombardo, a volunteer member of a large searching party.

The district attorney said Kurtz told him that young Pericone lost consciousness after being slashed and that Kurtz left him, returning from time to time to look at the boy. Kurtz surmised that rain revived the boy and he died.

According to authorities, Kurtz was arrested here in 1946 and charged with molesting a child.

He was sent to Middletown State Hospital and later transferred to Lyons, N. J., Veterans Hospital. He spent 11 years at the latter, underwent a brain operation last year, and was released.

Can't Tell Yet

Lotto said Goldfine and his assistants don't know how much is missing and consequently can't say whether it will interfere with Goldfine's testimony.

The discovery of the microphone had already plunged the Adams-Goldfine investigation into a roaring controversy.

At the other end of the microphone wires was Baron I. Shacklette, chief investigator for the House subcommittee looking into relations between Goldfine and Sherman Adams. And with Shacklette was Jack Anderson, a legman for columnist Drew Pearson.

Not Authorized

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) called the committee into emergency session to weigh the fate of Shacklette. He said the bugging had not been authorized.

From the Goldfine camp, attorney Roger Robb fired a demand for under-oath examination of anyone who might know whether confidential data has been secured through such tactics.

Lotto said Robb had also complained to the FBI about the microphone and that the FBI was investigating.

Files Complaint

Lotto said he himself has filed a complaint with the U. S. district attorney and asked the attorney whether his privacy has been violated by the microphone.

Lotto was registered for the room at which the microphone had been placed.

Miss Paperman was living in room 842 at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel.

She said her room appeared to have been ransacked, and that she found an empty pack of cigarettes in the room. She doesn't smoke.

Lotto said she returned to her room about 10:30 p. m. Sunday night and went to bed.

Bolted Door

At that time, she said, she closed a bolt in a door connecting with an adjoining room but thought nothing of it at the time. The adjoining room No. 844 had been occupied by a member of the Goldfine staff who was not there Sunday.

Miss Paperman said she discovered the loss of the papers this (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Gestapo Tactics, Says Lotto Report Follows Eavesdrop Mike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bernard

Goldfine's aides charged today that the hotel room of his secretary has been burglarized. This came atop discovery of a microphone placed in position to eavesdrop on conversation of the aides.

Jack Lotto, a public relations man newly hired by Goldfine, said that bank records, correspondence, lists and documents had been taken from the room and the secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, occupied. He said a report had been made to police.

Called It Gestapo Way

Lotto said "We feel this burglary is a continuation of the Gestapo tactics being employed against Mr. Goldfine and his associates."

Lotto said the missing papers were to have been used by Goldfine in his appearance Tuesday before the House committee investigating relations between the Boston industrialist and White House aide Sherman Adams.

Former Ziegfeld Girl 80 Sunday

CHICAGO (AP)—It was a happy birthday after all for an 80-year-old former Ziegfeld Girl.

"I'm all done in," said Mrs. Annabelle Whitford Buchanan, one of the century's celebrated beauties, after an all-day celebration Sunday.

Only last Friday, alone in her little apartment, Mrs. Buchanan had lamented to a reporter, "No one comes to see me. It would be wonderful to hear from someone—anyone, particularly on my birthday."

Many Well Wishers

Remembrances started arriving Saturday for the lonely, aging beauty who was selected early in the century by the artist Charles Dana Gibson to portray his famous creation in the Follies.

And Sunday well-wishers came calling, bringing gifts of jelly, jam, perfume, candy, handkerchiefs and flowers.

More than 150 cards, letters and telegrams arrived from the United States, Canada and Mexico—and every one of them sent by a stranger to the woman who was wined, dined and feted as the toast of the Ziegfeld Follies from 1907 to 1910.

Since Mrs. Buchanan's husband, a surgeon, died in January she has been alone.

Scour Wooded Area For Missing Child

MALONE, N. Y. (AP) — State Police and volunteers searched today for 5-year-old Brenda Jean Doud, who has been missing from a camp in Franklin County since Sunday afternoon.

They are scouring a heavily-wooded Adirondack area known as Eagle Pond, between Malone and Saranac Lake.

The weather was warm but damp overnight.

Troopers said the girl and her parents were visiting. They are from Massena.

Sentenced 10 Days

William Roggio, 19, Ardenia, was arrested by Officers Fred Brage and John DiLorenzo at Highland on a charge of being an unlicensed operator. Before Justice Patsy Conforti he was given 10 days in jail.

Lane, of Wayland, Mass.; two sisters, Mrs. Ralph S. Johnston of Wilmington and Mrs. E. Palm of Matawan, N. J.; a brother, A. H. Angerstein of Wilmington, and three grandchildren. Funeral services were to be held this morning 11 o'clock in Elsmere, Del., with burial to be private.

Alice G. Van Etten

Funeral services for Alice G. Van Etten, of 9 Wynkoop Place were held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., and at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Within the church was the Rev. Francis X. Toner. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir with Theodore Riccio soloist. Many called at the funeral home to offer their sympathy and condolence to the bereaved family. Floral tributes were numerous including spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Among the clergy visiting the funeral home were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, P. A. V. Father Farrelly, the Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann and Rev. William V. Reynolds who offered prayers for the dead. Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock St. Mary's Rosary Society, led by Mrs. Walter Fallon, president, and their spiritual director Father Toner, visited the funeral home and recited the Rosary. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Toner gave the absolution and final blessing. Bearers were Donald Bradley, William Van Etten, Robert Van Etten and Benjamin Van Etten, all grandchildren of Mrs. Van Etten.

Viaduct vs. Trailer, Span Wins in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Marcel Guilbault, 20, Belle River, Ont., was driving his tractor trailer peacefully through Detroit Sunday until he came to a viaduct.

The viaduct has a 12-foot clearance. Guilbault's trailer was 12 feet 6 inches.

Guilbault rolled forward and got stuck under the viaduct. He stepped on the gas and made it through but peeled off the top six inches of the trailer on the way. He returned to Windsor, Ont., for a new trailer.

Envoy Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Charles W. Yost of New York to be ambassador to Morocco. He will succeed Cavendish W. Cannon, who is retiring.

Yost, a career diplomat since 1930, is now a member of the State Department's policy planning staff.

He is from Watertown, N.Y.

Bomb Attacks

ALGERS (AP) — Small bomb attacks flared throughout troubled Algeria over the weekend.

There were no major engagements between nationalist rebels and the French, but 4 persons were killed and 20 injured in the individual attacks.

Bait Was Hungry

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Fisher-man H. E. Raynor tells this story: He baited his hook with a minnow and tossed it in a lake near here. Minutes later he pulled in his line and found that the bait had caught a still smaller fish in its mouth.

June Parkers Pay $4,450 to City

A June parking meter total of $4,450 reported by the city treasurer's office bring the total to $22,323.54 for the first six months of the year.

Last month's total was $100 more than was collected in May, and equalled the June 1957, total.

Prince Charles Has Shaky Finances, Sells Belongings

LONDON (AP) — Britain's future king has suffered an inglorious reverse in a big deal to straighten out his shaky finances at the school candy shop.

This financial crisis in the life of 9-year-old Prince Charles took place at Cheam, his boarding school in nearby Berkshire.

His mother, Queen Elizabeth II, allows the heir to the throne 20 shillings — $2.80 — spending money each three-month term. Like the other boys, the king-to-be keeps it at what is called the bank in the candy shop.

With three weeks left in the term, Charles discovered he had no money left in the bank. So he staged a sale of some of his belongings.

Aware that there was an excellent opportunity to buy royal souvenirs cheap, other schoolboys flocked to Charles' sale.

Delighted with the result, the bonny Charles visited the candy shop once more dreaming, his friends said, of chocolate fudge and other delicacies.

But he wasn't allowed to make any purchases. Miss Margaret Cowleshall, in charge of the shop, knew that he had exhausted his candy funds. So—no sale.

He had to return the money. In sending Charles to school with other boys, the Queen and Prince Philip insisted that he be treated the same as any other student.

He was.

Speed Average

The average speed of freight trains is about 19 miles per hour. However, the running speeds are considerably more because the average speeds are computed after all stops made for switching, picking up and setting out cars.

When the explosion of eight Niko-Ajax missiles happened at Middletown, N. J., last May 22, the damage to houses was $7,500 and were quickly paid by First Army. Highest damage was $261 for a damaged fire hose belonging to one of the volunteer fire departments.

YMCA Offers Largest Program For Community

The YMCA 1958 summer program of activities for young adults, boys and girls is the largest ever offered in the local association, General Secretary Louis H. Schafer said today.

The activities are three fold: Recreational, instructional and educational.

The day camp conducted by the general secretary covers all three phases of the above. The camp is located at DeWitt Lake and its daily program consists of a complete camping program of games, craft, out-door living, nature study, boating and the instructions of swimming. There also are many other phases of camping carried out, but too numerous to mention. Camp is geared to handle approximately 125 boys and girls each week, and it is nearly filled each week. Camp is for boys and girls between the ages of five to 13 years. Schafer has two adults and 13 high school boys and girls to supervise.

There are two classes daily, one hour in the morning and one and a half hours in the afternoon. The physical director, Richard Case assists.

The building and athletic field program is under the direction of Frank Rebollo, youth director. This program consists of athletic and soft ball leagues on the athletic field on Smith Avenue. Three games occupy between 60 to 70 boys at one time. The building program is for craft work, indoor games and the use of the swimming pool. One day each week is given over to traveling bus trips covering 10 different historical and educational spots in the Mid-Hudson and Metropolitan areas.

Wednesdays and Thursdays are scheduled for girls between the ages of 7½ to 14 years. Each morning is divided into three instructional swimming classes. The afternoon period is for the use of advanced instructions and recreational swimming. There are over 125 girls listed in this activity.

The ladies have one evening in the Y swimming, mostly for instructions. There are 48 women registered and they are divided into three classes between 7:15 and 9:30 p. m. Some ladies listed in this special class travel from Saugerties, Ellenville, Accord, New Paltz and Palenville to participate.

The Y pool is also used on schedule by many Boy Scout troops. Many young men living in cabins and in trailers are using the showers and have swimming pool privileges throughout the summer months.

The Y building, its summer day camp, athletic field program, along with the adult swimming provides activities for 500 people throughout the summer program.

Javits Favors End To Nuclear Tests

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) today told a delegation seeking an end to nuclear bomb tests, "My heart is with you."

The delegation gave Javits an open letter addressed to him and Sen. Irving N. Ives (R-NY) and signed by 6,000 persons. Javits also accepted the letter for Ives.

Dr. Bess Cameron of the American Friends Service Committee headed the delegation, which represents the New York Committee on Sane Nuclear Policy.

The delegation said it supports proposals by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) for nuclear test control.

Humphrey has suggested a step-by-step approach in solving problems of disarmament and international tension. He says world public opinion would support suspension of nuclear tests provided an adequate inspection and detection system could be installed.

Javits said he agreed with the inspection plan, preferably by an organization within the United Nations.

Goldfine Aides

morning when she went to a closet.

'Personal' Letters Opened

Lotto said sealed letters marked "personal" had been broken open. Lotto called reporters to a suite in the Statler Hotel to tell them his account of the missing papers. Goldfine himself was reported by his aides to be still abed. They said he didn't get to bed until about 5 a. m. (EDT) because of the excitement over the microphone.

Lists Questions

Robb said public a letter to Harris saying these questions should be answered in testimony under oath from all those having knowledge of the facts:

1. Has Shacklette or other subcommittee investigators, picked up confidential information through listening in on Goldfine's suites?
2. Has confidential information been given to subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman in his quizzing of Goldfine, who resumes the witness stand tomorrow?
3. Has confidential material been given columnist Pearson who Robb said publishes material critical of Goldfine?

Newsman summoned for a post-midnight news conference watched in amazement as the microphone which Shacklette later claimed as his was jerked under a connecting door into the Goldfine aides' suite. The original plan for the meeting with newsmen was abandoned.

Tunes in Set

Shacklette said he tuned in his hi-fi set on the Sheraton-Carlton suite of Jack Lotto, Goldfine's new publicity man. He said Harris told him to find out, as he put it, who was tapping telephone lines of subcommittee members.

"Mr. Harris did not authorize any particular type of investigation," Shacklette said.

Jack Anderson, who works for columnist Drew Pearson, was found in the room with Shacklette. Anderson said he too had information about the alleged wiretapping, but the microphone and electronic gear were Shacklette's.

Not Authorized

Harris acknowledged that he had told Shacklette to see what he could find out about reports, his telephone was tapped. But he said Shacklette's electrical eavesdropping was not authorized. Harris said he still does not know whether his telephone has been tapped with.

Goldfine, gift-giving friend of presidential aide Sherman Adams whom the subcommittee now is investigating, charged "Gestapo tactics" when he learned of the postmidnight incident.

"I'm shocked beyond words by such disgraceful conduct by an official representative of a congressional committee," Goldfine said later after huddling with Lotto and Goldfine's Washington lawyer Roger Robb.

Orders Move

Goldfine issued immediate orders for his entourage to move out of the hotel. Goldfine's own suite was on the second floor, six floors below Lotto's.

The developments overshadowed all other recent events in the sensation-packed House probe of charges that Goldfine bestowed gifts widely among federal employees and got special federal treatment in return. Both he and Adams have denied the special treatment charges.

The textile and real estate magnate flew in from Boston Sunday night with a promise to tell the subcommittee, at last, about three quarters of a million dollars worth of his checks that have gone uncashed for years.

He returns for a third day of testimony before the subcommittee Tuesday.

But Goldfine had hardly retired to his suite before the case took its newest turn.

Story of Events

Here's what happened: Lotto phoned newsmen between 11 p. m. and midnight that he was arranging a 12:30 a. m. news conference on some records which Goldfine had brought into town an hour or so earlier.

Reporters gathered in Lotto's Room 800 at the appointed hour but the news conference never came off. While they were waiting and waiting for it to start, Robb and Lotto busied about. Then the two Goldfine aides and Phil Brennan, Lotto's assistant, silently motioned the newsmen into another room of the suite.

Robb then whispered that about 11 p. m. he had spotted a microphone just on the other side of a locked door connecting Room 800 with adjoining Room 806.

Notice Space

Robb said that he had noticed earlier that the door to Room 806 was a fraction of an inch above the floor line. He said he knelt down and saw a pair of shoes. He called Brennan. Brennan said he saw a pair of hands and what appeared to be someone else peering back at him from the darkness on the other side of the crack under the door.

Next, Robb produced for newsmen a former Washington, D.C., policeman, Lloyd V. Furr, whom Robb hired a week ago to check on eavesdropping. Furr said an electrical detector confirmed there was a microphone next door.

Furr said a wire coat hanger under the door, then pulled back in a swift motion.

Out Comes Microphone

Out came a small gray microphone the size of a tiny mouse, trailing behind it a tail of an electric cord several feet long.

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams is expected to resign his post early this week to seek the Republican nomination for governor. That would make him the third announced contender.

Williams refused Sunday night to confirm reports that he has decided to resign.

Reached at his summer home on Westhampton Beach on Long Island, he said his decision will be made by Wednesday and probably will be announced that day at the latest.

As a federal office-holder, Williams is barred by the Hatch Act from participation in politics.

A committee backing Williams for the nomination has asked him to attend a reception Wednesday night at the Roosevelt Hotel to open a Williams-for-governor campaign. The committee is headed by Richard H. West, chairman of the board of the Irving Trust Co.

Williams pointed out that he could not attend the reception unless he resigned his federal post first.

He did not say whether he would accept the invitation. Former Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and philanthropist Nelson A. Rockefeller already are announced candidates for the gubernatorial nomination.

State Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, a possible contender, has said he will announce his intentions in August.

Russians make the jet engine an integral part of the wing unit, while Americans favor the underslung type.

Sea Lion's Bid For Freedom Ends In London Pool

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Slippery, the celebrated sea lion who wanted to paddle home to the Pacific, is back in the swim at Storybook Gardens.

All he's got to show for his two-week bid for salt-water freedom are his scars and a continent full of fans.

Welcomed Home

They brought him back to the children's zoo Sunday, a sadder but wiser sea lion blinking at the 50,000 cheering citizens who welcomed him "home."

At one point Slippery was the cause of a U. S.-Canadian border row. He first came here from his native California about two weeks ago. The same day he escaped his pool, slipped under a fence and waddled unnoticed to the nearby Thames River.

Heading south, he swam to Lake St. Clair, then tried the Detroit River, Lake Erie and Ohio's Maumee River in a bid to press farther south. International headlines marked every move.

He foiled pursuers on a dozen occasions but his luck ran out when Toledo zoo experts dazed him with tranquilizers, in air rifle darts and trapped him in a fishing net.

Driven Home

He was taken to the Toledo Zoo where officials announced they were claiming ownership to the now famous sea lion. But Toledo citizens rebelled at that and the zoo quickly reversed its decision.

Slippery was driven home 200 miles in a station wagon Sunday and was paraded through the streets of London to the cheers of 50,000 fans.

With him was a 2-month-old puma, gifted to London by the Toledo zoo. The zoo head, Phil Skeldon gave Slippery the keys to the city of Toledo. Then the $200 reward posted for Slippery's return was given to Capt. Robert Graver of the Sandusky, Ohio, police department. But the money was turned over to the London zoo.

Kiwanis Views Mind Technique Demonstration

A demonstration of memory and the explanation of the technique used in the demonstration was presented to the Kiwanis Club of Kingston by Frank and Gladys Schilling at the weekly luncheon.

The program was opened with a brief explanation by Frank Schilling of the techniques of memory training. Two basic ideas were keen observation and the use of classification of objects, according to the speaker.

In reply to a question from the audience as to how to remember names, Mr. Schilling replied that one excellent way to accomplish this was to associate certain meanings with names. A method of remembering the names of the States of the United States was illustrated with a blackboard drawing in the form of a graph which originated with certain specific sayings, such as the three states beginning with "A" was recalled by the AAA organization, familiar to all as the Automobile Association of America.

Accurate Calling

To demonstrate memory training, Gladys Schilling stood blindfolded before the audience while her husband walked through the audience with a deck of cards. Selections were made from this deck of cards, and as the card was held up to the audience the blindfolded person called accurately the face of the card. Later it was explained that this was done through certain innocent-sounding words which fitted themselves into a graph-pattern which in turn notified Mrs. Schilling as to the card she was calling.

In conclusion, Frank Schilling revealed that it was possible that a memory-training course would be available in Kingston sometime during the fall months.

Two Die, One Critical As Car Hits Trailer

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP)—Two migrant workers were killed and a third was injured critically Saturday night when their automobile smashed into a truck trailer parked along Route 44 near the New York State line, State Police reported.

The dead were identified as Willie McCullough, 33, of Coudersport, and Otis Mack, 34, of Dothan, Ala.

The third man, James Petway, 29, of Immokalee, Fla., was reported in critical condition at a hospital in Olean, N. Y.

All three are Negroes. Troopers said McCullough apparently was driving.

The accident occurred about four miles west of Shinglehouse. The trailer was loaded with 18 tons of fertilizer. Police said it had been parked along the highway so workers on truck farms could obtain the fertilizer.

Family Reported Missing Returns, Took Long Trip

BLACKSTONE, Mass. (AP)—A family of six was back home today, still somewhat surprised that their absence caused a stir of commotion.

The family—Louis Labonne and his wife, Loretta, both 51; their son, Ernest, 26, the latter's wife, Eleanor, 21, and the young couple's two infant children—started out for a drive-in movie Friday night.

When they failed to get home Saturday, Louis Labonne Jr., reported them missing.

The family got home safely with an explanation for their absence.

West to Niagara

Labonne Sr., had this to say: "We were planning to go to a drive-in, but it was a nice night and when Ernest said 'Where to Pop?' I said let's go to Niagara Falls."

"So that's what we did. We arrived there Saturday morning—its only 560 miles from here. We drove around, ate, and then turned around and headed back."

"I guess Junior didn't see the note I left for him. Why, I told him we were going to a drive-in on Niagara Falls."

Area Man Elected To State Office In Marine League

Valmore M. Carpenter of West Camp, past commander of Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League was one of five named vice commanders of the New York Department at Glens Falls this weekend, according to the Associated Press.

Carpenter, past commander of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW, was reelected to the state office. He is employed as a foreman with K-B Products Inc., mushroom growers, at the Cox-sack plant. Active in firemanic organizations, he is a charter member and first chief of Malden-West Camp Fire Company and a member of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Raymond Puchalski of Lackawanna is the new commandant of the New York Department, Marine Corps League.

Puchalski was elected Saturday at the closing session of the 27th annual convention to succeed William F. Schmol of Massapequa.

Mrs. Jean Kassel of Staten Island was named to head the auxiliary.

Other new department officers: Joseph Brucina, Levittown, judge advocate; Walter Donnelly, Massapequa, chaplain; Chester Catuzza, Lackawanna, adjutant paymaster; and these vice commanders: Allen E. Brooks, Levittown; Fred Catuzza, Lackawanna; John Ruzzi, Dundee; and Leonard Duccette, Plattsburgh.

Mrs. Kassel succeeds Mrs. Helen Davis of New York City, who was named judge advocate.

About 500 persons attended the three-day meeting.

Claims Police Cruel To Family During Probe

MCCONNELLSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A onetime state employee says he has asked the FBI and the governors of Tennessee and Georgia to look into what he calls the "terribly cruel" treatment of his family during a robbery investigation.

Maurice E. Sherman, 67, said Sunday his wife and the family of his son, Maurice Jr., of RD2, Painted Post, N. Y., were arrested June 22 in Murry County, in northwestern Georgia.

They were taken to a jail in Benton, Tenn., held on suspicion of robbery, and freed the next day after a hearing before a justice of the peace, Sherman said.

Included in the group, Sherman said, were his daughter-in-law and

Indictments Seen Due Tomorrow in Apalachin Case

NEW YORK (AP)—"A most important development in a major case" against underworld narcotics big shots is due tomorrow, says U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams.

Williams' annual report indicates that indictments will be returned by a federal grand jury that has been investigating the mobster convention at Apalachin last Nov. 14.

After the report was released Sunday, a newsman asked Williams for details about a line in the report concerning imminent action in a major case against the underworld hierarchy.

He then told of a major federal crackdown on the underworld big shots that "could easily drive the Mafia out of the narcotics business."

Williams said the crackdown will involve at least two and may be more of the hoodlums who attended the Apalachin meeting.

He said the two Apalachin characters he had in mind are "very big—believe me—very big." Predicting that the impending action could drive the international crime syndicate out of the narcotics business, Williams said: "We are making it very unprofitable for them to continue."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 7, 1958

BIG AS ALL ALASKA

The voting of statehood for Alaska means many things for the United States.

It reaffirms the ideas of growth and change and progress that are bound up tightly with our whole spacious outlook on life. We grew great through expansion, through pushing back the frontiers.

It is good to know we still can press outward to give our life a larger setting.

And, it should be observed in passing, what we have done for Alaska should now be accomplished with promptness and dispatch for Hawaii.

Alaska is an amazing region. Its 586,400 square miles will make it by far the biggest state, for giant Texas has 267,339. But its population, confined mostly to the green valleys and forested slopes of the western coastal fringe, is in the range of 215,000, counting 50,000 servicemen. Only Nevada has fewer people.

By adding Alaska to the roster of states we will be enlarging the U. S. proper by one fifth.

At the same time, we have placed our national borders within some 20 miles of Russian territory and less than 60 from the Soviet Siberian mainland across the Bering strait.

Since this has been in fact our most vital northwesterly outpost for more than a decade anyway, it seems fitting that it now gain responsible status in the national structure.

Politically, Alaska's coming of age means the U. S. House temporarily will have its membership enlarged by one (later another state will lose one), while the Senate will rise from 96 to 98.

Based on its complexion over the years, the view is held widely that this enlargement will increase Democratic representation in Congress. It also is expected to alter the balance between northern and southern Democrats.

Economically Alaska still is a region in the formative stages. It is rich in minerals, forest products, fish and furs. Some already are fairly well developed. But there are vast chances for growth—and big problems.

Alaska, fabled land of gold strikes, forbidding interior cold (70 below), and North America's highest mountains (Mt. McKinley 20,300 feet), will be the first part of the United States not directly attached to the main territory. Canada separates it from Washington and Idaho.

In making Alaska the 49th state we have bitten off something big. All the resources and ingenuity of the Alaskans and the whole American people are now needed to assure that it may hereafter become a living, breathing, richly developed addition to this great union.

Answering a questionnaire on corporal punishment in schools, one citizen said a teacher should at least have the right to protect herself. Or be paid enough to carry insurance.

NEW TYPE OF COURT

A new suggestion for speeding up justice in the federal courts comes from a federal judge, Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. of Boston. He rejects, as being no real solution, the old device of adding more judges. Instead he would create lower courts to deal with personal injury cases, which make heavy demands on the present courts.

Merely to streamline the administration of justice does not get very far. U. S. District Judge Irving Kaufman of New York City has observed that the more his court cleared its calendars, the more cases poured in from the state courts. His notion is that litigants who might resort to state courts switch to a federal court whenever the latter's calendar is in better shape.

Judge Wyzanski's proposed new courts have as precedents the special courts now dealing with tax cases, and also with customs and claims against the government. His high standing in the profession will

APALACHIN

The investigation of Apalachin will undoubtedly produce a Roman holiday as obscure, robust, rotund, individuals, roughly referred to as hoodlums but often possessing bank accounts and credit lines which more honest men envy, march before the public. Most of them will have nothing to say under the Fifth or First or Sixth Amendments to the Constitution, the Communist lawyers having set the precedents.

A closer study of the Apalachin phenomenon needs to be made than a Congressional committee is willing to do. How does Apalachin fit into the private enterprise system? What is the relationship between Apalachin and the constant appeal of government officials for small business? How can small business accumulate capital, under our tax systems, in competition with the life insurance companies, the mutuals, the pension funds of corporations and labor unions, and similar immense and concentrated reservoirs of capital? In some banks, it is said but cannot readily be established, that some officers run private factoring arrangements to get loans for some customers; This is an under-the-table transaction and is strictly crooked.

What Apalachin represents, in this system, is the legitimization of "hot" money by investment in normal industries. This involves old "bootleg" money which has to come out, dope and other illegal earnings, principally cash upon which no income taxes have been paid. Such money may be hidden here or abroad for years, but, to be profitable, it must come into the mainstream of business activity. Much of that money has been hidden in Canada, Switzerland, Panama, Venezuela and other sanctuaries. A distinct business activity, engaged in by lawyers, accountants and other specialists, has developed in the transportation and deposit of such money.

The men at Apalachin may therefore be defined as marginal businessmen who engage in marginal industries and services and who have to find means for investing funds in industries which usually do not attract big business and for which funds are unavailable in the great reservoirs of capital. This includes the immense garment industry, the transportation of clothing and food products to large cities, and certain phases of the leisure-time industry.

As some of the money these men use is illegitimate and needs to be covered up, because taxes were withheld or the money flowed in from abroad through unusual channels, these industries do their own policing, which occasionally involves murder. They are still wildly competitive in a semi-monopolistic era and employ such methods as were normal when John D. Rockefeller organized the Standard Oil Company.

The psychological response of all these men to the challenge of their lives and their activities is to develop legitimate businesses and for them to become respected citizens in their communities. They contribute freely to charity; they buy thousands of dollars of tickets for public affairs; they associate with politicians and celebrities, often picking up the tab as it is called. The great ambition of their lives is to be regarded as "somebody."

But it is very difficult to get out of the rut of former relationships. The man who has a "record" is always fearful that his record will come out, that some newspaperman will pick it up and write a story; the man who has no "record" knows that the police and others are fully cognizant of his origin. So those who do not pass from hood society to clean society live in a half-world of hoods, politicians, legitimate businessmen who are crooks, labor leaders with great public reputations who privately do as they can, smart girls on the make who prefer to be rich divorcees than poor but loving wives—it is a world of all its own, with rigid rules as to loyalties, with competition for leadership and with men of business genius and competence of the highest order.

The center of this phase of private enterprise is in New York, which is the capital of the world of money. As the enterprises of these individuals grow, they can no longer depend on their own form of banking, which is to give a piece of the enterprise for a consideration; they require usual banking facilities and they get what they need because their legitimate operations have good standing.

It would be smart for Congressional committees to analyze the relationship of Apalachin to the difficulties of doing "small" business in the United States.

Lifetime Water Consumption
Of Average Person
Would Float Ship

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Today's first question deals with a fundamental aspect of life.

Q—Please say something about the importance of water to the human body and how much is needed.—L. C.

A—Human life cannot exist unless the body takes in water. When deprived of water a person dies much more rapidly than when deprived of food. There is some variation in the need for water, depending on outside temperature, exercise and many other factors. But thirst is about as good a guide as to how much water should be taken as anything else.

Recently I read that in an average lifetime of 75 years a person will drink over 20,000 gallons of water. Doing a little arithmetic, I came up with an average of 1 1/2 quarts per day. Probably this is reasonable when one considers the water consumed with soft drinks, coffee, milk and the like, as well as just plain drinking water.

Q—I am 86 and my eyesight is good for my age. But for the last eight or 10 years about every four or five weeks I have a bright dazzling light coming over my eyes. Sometimes I also have some pain over my right eye. Would you discuss this?—H. J.

A—It is possible that you have glaucoma or some other eye disease, in spite of the fact that your vision is so good. It would seem wise to consult an eye specialist to make doubly sure that something is not present in your eyes which should be treated.

Q—A short time ago you wrote of a lady who had gone to a long list of doctors for 20 or 25 years without finding what was wrong, and you implied that her difficulty was not of a physical nature. I have had about the same experience for 35 years, but only 12 years ago did a doctor discover I had chronic brucellosis. I think you should be more careful about concluding that people are not sick when they feel that way.—Mrs. J. L.

A—Several other correspondents have taken me to task for the remarks in question. It is true, of course, that there are obscure illnesses which escape diagnosis for a long time, and I agree that every physician should have a high degree of suspicion, even when it seems difficult to find any.

Q—Does honey taken with hot tea or warm milk have a tendency to cause a person to retain water in his system?—Mrs. E. M.

A—This is a new one to me. I doubt it.

"How Clean Must a Vicuna's Tooth Be?"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower's informal visit to Ottawa July 8-10 will be their second good will trip to Canada since moving into the White House.

On the first trip in November 1953 the President told the Canadian Parliament that "Joint development of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes Waterway is inevitable."

That is one prediction on improved U. S.-Canadian relations that has materialized. On the way back to Washington the Eisenhower and Secretary of State and Mrs. Dulles, who accompany them, are scheduled to inspect the U. S. works of the now nearly completed St. Lawrence Seaway.

The other parts of President Eisenhower's 1953 talk to the Canadian Parliament could stand a playback. He declared then that "neighborly cooperation" would insure the defense and economic prosperity of the American continent.

Mutual defense arrangements of the two countries have been proceeding all right, with the U. S. pumping half a billion dollars a year into combined efforts to safeguard the two countries against surprise attack.

BUT SOMETHING seems to have happened to the economic prosperity of the two countries in the last five years. And that has put a strain on neighborly cooperation.

Some Canadian criticisms of the U. S. that have been flying around strike many Americans as silly.

For instance there is the frequently expressed charge that the U. S. is trying to take over Canada and make it into a "49th

State." That would have put it even ahead of Alaska.

Just how silly this is has been emphasized by Canada's Liberal party leader Lester B. Pearson. In a Vassar commencement address he accused the U. S. of "neglecting" Canada, through taking it too much for granted.

Any calm appraisal should show neither neglect nor domination. But there are other inconsistencies in present surface differences between the two countries.

A Canadian immigration office in New York is trying to recruit U. S. skilled labor to "Go North, Young Man" and grow up with the country.

ON THE OTHER hand, the most frequent criticism of the United States is that this country is trying to take over Canada through trade, capital and economic penetration, freezing the Canadians out of their own country.

What all this really amounts to is that Canada is enjoying acute growing pains. It has the most rapidly developing economy in the world today. It is growing even faster than Russia. This gives Canadians a natural sense of pride which is developing into strong nationalism.

U. S. ambassador to Ottawa Livingston T. Merchant—a real pro in this business—recently summed up the whole situation for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

It was his view that as Canada's economy has grown, its relations with the United States—which accounts for two-thirds of its foreign trade—have naturally grown more complex. And they are likely to grow still more complex.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER is expected to give his views on this new relationship when he again addresses Parliament.

Democrats' Defeat of Aid Called 'Cold War' Sabotage

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What's happened to the Democratic party? For a long time now the Republicans have been told that the Democrats were the party of "isolationism" and that the Democrats were the international co-operationists. But it turns out now that the Democratic party in the House of Representatives has virtually emasculated the President's program for defense support abroad. Mr. Eisenhower calls it a "setback" for the free world.

All during the last five years the Democrats have been saying that President Eisenhower may earnestly favor international co-operation but that he couldn't control his own party on the issue. The Democrats have consistently pictured the President as unable to get his own party to do his bidding.

Democrats Vote for Cut
In a key vote, however, in the House of Representatives last week the Democrats lined up, 140 to 60, to defeat the appropriation of $75,000,000 which was to have been restored to a bill in which the Administration requests had already been cut by $800,000,000. The Republicans lined up, 105 to 74, for the amendment.

Thus it was the Republican party which not only stuck by the leadership of the White House but also put itself on record as favoring mutual security.

No longer will the Democratic campaign speakers be able to taunt the Republicans about their supposed isolationism. No longer will it seem convincing for the Democratic party's spokesmen to be calling for "bold, imaginative leadership" when the Democrats who are in control of Congress have sabotaged the most important weapon on the United States government can wield in the "cold war."

There are all sorts of reasons why various members of the House are opposed to "foreign aid." But most of them are unaware of or unwilling to face up to the many ticklish problems confronting the Department of State and other governmental agencies in carrying on the "cold war." Where the United States spends a few million in a country, the Soviets spend far more. These delicate questions are explained in confidence to the committees of Congress, and it is significant that both the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with a non-partisan approach approved overwhelmingly the President's program of approximately $3,900,000,000. It was only when the measure was up for consideration by the House Appropriations Committee that the measure struck a snag. Here the bitter opposition of Democratic party isolationists brought severe curtailment.

Democratic Alibis
Why weren't the Democratic leaders able to override one of their own committees and why weren't they successful in winning more votes on the floor? There are all sorts of alibis being circulated and, as usual, the Administration's liaison men on Capitol Hill are being blamed for this or that error in tactics.

The fact remains, however, that the opposition to the foreign aid program was well known and the key Democrats who were fighting it were well known. The truth is the Democratic leadership wasn't strong enough to control its recalcitrant groups or was unwilling in a showdown to call on the Democrats of the House to take sides against the Appropriations Committee. This is all the more puzzling because the big argument for the foreign aid program this year was that in the midst of recession it would help domestic industries and foster re-employment. It has been estimated that 75 per cent of the money appropriated for foreign aid will be spent in this country with domestic businesses.

Democratic Turnabout
The Democrats have been talking loudly about how they want to help the country get back on its feet through more spending programs, but when the Republicans usually are conservative about public spending, do go along with a measure which in itself but which accomplishes this kind of object, too, it is surprising to see the Democrats abandoning one of their own professed goals.

The tragic part of the episode is that the United States government is being handicapped in its "cold war" battles by the failure to provide adequate funds. Nobody seems to want to see draft calls increased or American armed forces put into action anywhere abroad, yet when the simple device of "buying peace" is put before the House of Representatives, the Democratic party turns away and leaves the nation in the lurch.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

"In view of the fact that you seem to be one of the few who realize that the politician has some rights, too, I thought you might like to know that you have company."

So reads a note from Allen C. Bradley of the Advocate, of the Catholic archdiocese of Newark and the diocese of Paterson. I have been in worse company.

Mr. Bradley enclosed an editorial that says in part, "bleeding hearts who are continually screaming about civil rights and protesting about what they call bad, the cops with him as readily as any faker of any civil liberties racket will. Off duty the cop must maintain standards of conduct that army officers used to observe but no longer must."

I agreed with Frank Costello when in a recent conversation he said that reformers had turned loose to run wild in the streets of New York, with fastidiously strict youth and old-fashioned truncheon employment of boys under 16. If we had had such laws in Chicago in my time I might have become a stickup or prowler, but that is only conjecture. I do realize, though, like Costello, that some kids, restless, strong, imaginative and ambitious, are bored stiff with lessons in topics that they deem test such as, in my case, grammar. I would know a gerund if one sat in my lap but will undertake today to write a better discussion in pure English of any topical subject than any high school or college pedagogue in that line, including priests, who, by the way, are becoming terribly clumsy and dull in editorial expression.

The Chicago Tribune recently carried an inquiry "Who was William J. Bogan?" for whom a new school is to be named. Well, I can tell the Tribune. Bogan was the principal of Lane Tech who expelled Westbrook Pegler from all the public schools of Chicago about 1912 for nicking another kid over the eye with a blackboard eraser under provocation during a physiography lecture in which Mr. P. had not the slightest interest. It was a "compulsory" study in a package course. Mr. P. then got a job as an office boy and he still insists that Bogan was a big, fat political bum, doing a rotten job of his task, absolutely indifferent to the faults in his administration.

In Harlem and became a genius at instant calculation of odds on dice, slot machines, and elections. He just wanted to go out into the world and get going. Now thousands of kids can't get jobs because employers can be prosecuted for giving them work without idiotic legal formalities. Therefore, many of them are driven to mischief not only for activity but for money.

But the inquiry "Who was William J. Bogan?" is upheld if these kids turn to crime. The kids should know that in such case they risk death. And the cops should fight to win, meaning shoot to kill.

a loaded gun and hunting with a pack, is no loss to the community. His death is a net gain and the community owes the cop respect for the good performance of a difficult task on behalf of the people.

I do not expect an archdiocesan paper to go along with me this far and in these extended comments I walk my own beat, but not necessarily alone. Many citizens walk with me. I have known many policemen and their wives and I put myself on their side on general principles in all cases. If a cop has been bad, the cops with him as readily as any faker of any civil liberties racket will. Off duty the cop must maintain standards of conduct that army officers used to observe but no longer must.

Two Amendments To Traffic Laws Are Stressed

Two amendments to the New York State Vehicle and Traffic Laws which affect lighting requirements on passenger cars and trucks—among those which became effective July 1—were stressed today by Joseph P. Kelly, commissioner of motor vehicles.

Both are important to safety on the streets and highways, he said.

The first, relating to Section 15, subdivision 2, now makes it mandatory to have two lighted lamps displayed on the front and one red light on the rear of all vehicles at any time when visibility is not clear for a distance of 500 feet ahead of such vehicle.

Foggy or Misty Conditions

This refers to foggy or misty conditions even during daylight hours when the range of visibility is below 500 feet. Previously, the section directed that such lights be turned on during the period of from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise.

The second, relating to Section 16, subdivision 1, now requires all vehicles subject to the commercial vehicle lighting law to be equipped with signalling devices (directional signals and stop lights) and reflectors at any time of the day or night. The previous requirements specified only the hours between a half-hour after sunset and a half-hour before sunrise. Other specified lamps, two on the front and a red one on the rear, need only to be used during the hours of darkness.

"When are they going to let you drive a two-wheeler?"

Vacations of Old

By FRANK TRIPP

Again comes the season when man seeks to change his environs. To some it is only a brief spell out of doors. To many, a sumptuous costly holiday. To others any interruption of their almost perpetual vacation is just a bothersome nod at reality.

Once a vacation was a big event, but the old-time thrill is gone. Lost, from times when men worked eight- to ten-hour days, six days a week, year 'round. Very few had a few days off with pay.

Most risked their jobs if they took time off at their own expense.

"That was not too long ago. It is revealing for one who lived with it to look back upon the fathers, and the early ones he knew."

Vacationing then was largely a feminine and juvenile institution. Men stayed home and worked. Women with children went away and worked harder; in unhandy cottages and flimsy tents. Pop's doubtful recompense was heralded in a popular song, "My Wife's Gone to the Country, Hurrah, Hurrah!"

TO GET to a lake, river or farm was the dream of all. The sparsely scattered Victorian retreats were for the few who could afford $15 a week for room and board. The well-to-do went to such as Hot Springs, Saratoga or the seashore. Average people near the coasts had the real breaks. Inland it was different.

Farmers took in boarders. City slickers amused the natives. In turn they got equal kick out of the "rubes"—who are no more. The city went to the country. Now the country goes to the city, and can't be detected on Fifth Avenue.

COUNTRY summer boarders created many a best seller. The market for jibes and ridicule of "hicks" was doomed when came mail order catalogues; well before modern communication and fast transportation. The farmer's hired girl donned class.

Today's price of a swank city meal would buy a week on a farm, and usually, but not always, equal food. The bedsprings might be of rope, the mattress straw or feathers, the plumbing a water pitcher.

Always a Chic Sale was far in the back yard, its midnight standby under the bed—but it was the country, and a change. To this day man puts up with inconveniences he would not tolerate at home; if they are part of a vacation.

CAMPING WAS rigorous adventure. Sleeping cold on boughs, or rickety cots, no sleeping bags yet; driving nocturnal animals away from the soap box larder, battling rains that flooded the tent and wind that blew it down, wearing wet clothes; fighting flies, nursing mosquito bites, walking two miles for eggs and milk, cooking in rusty pans, eating off tin dishes. Add the problem of getting there and back; no autos then.

Small lakes and lazy rivers lured tenting families and oldish fishermen's hideouts. A few could stay all summer, and emerged bearded and garbed fit to stage a magic lantern thriller that would make "Wagon Train" look like an Easter parade.

WHERE THEY CAMPED, their sons have built modern summer places. One that took eight hours to reach by wagon

Health for All

'An Ill Name'

"... Being bit touched it causeth redness, itching and lastly blisters, and which, howsoever, after awhile pass away of themselves, without further harm; yet because for the time they are somewhat painful, it hath got itself an ill name."

That was the first report on poison ivy, written about 350 years ago by Captain John Smith. Among his many adventures in the early American wilderness, the Captain's first encounter with poison ivy is not as well known as his adventures with the beautiful Indian maiden Pocahontas.

Historians now tell us that the Pocahontas story was mostly legend, but poison ivy is no legend. It is still only too much with us.

However, unlike poor John who could only suffer patiently until the symptoms passed away of themselves, there is some help for the modern explorer. There are many lotions and ointments on the market today some of which not only soothe but may prevent discomfort.

Look for preparations containing zincum which neutralizes the toxic principle of poison ivy. To be effective, treatment must begin as soon as possible after exposure. If you expect to be in contact with poison ivy, use the preparation in advance on exposed areas of the skin.

People vary considerably in the strength of their reaction to ivy poisoning, and no preparation is fool-proof. So don't rush in where angels fear to tread. Learn to identify the noxious plant by its shiny, dark leaf divided into three leaflets. Avoid poison ivy areas even when the leaves are gone. The whole plant, stem and roots as well as leaves, can poison you.

Drowning Suicide

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A man fishing with two friends stripped off his clothes and jumped from the bank to his death Sunday in the Genesee River.

He was Ralph Morgan, 27, of Anderson, S. C.

His companions told police he had come to Rochester a week ago to visit his estranged wife, who lives here.

Coroner's Physician Walter Riley ruled his death a suicide by drowning.

Second Victim Dies

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The second victim of a head-on automobile collision June 25 near suburban East Aurora died Sunday in a hospital. He was Robert Offhaus, 49, of East Aurora.

Killed in the crash was Thomas R. Schwartz, 18, president of the senior class at East Aurora High School. He had been graduated only a few hours earlier.

"Gen-ne-see" to the Indians meant "beautiful valley."

"Me save money?
I never thought I could until..."

Mrs. Hill was the type of person who absolutely couldn't save a cent, until... one day she went over to a friend's house to see her newly modernized kitchen. Her friend explained how she had managed to save the money for it. She merely put aside quarters out of her change, and put the money in a savings account. Her husband was so pleased by her efforts he even added extra dollars to the account. It wasn't long before they were both raving over their new kitchen which not only contributed so much to the convenience and happiness of the family but also increased the value of the house.

A lot of people like Mrs. Hill, who never thought they could save a cent, have found out that it's easy to save money once they open a savings account with our Association. To get the things you want, why don't you open a savings account today at our Insured Savings and Loan Association.

Body of Buffalo Man Found Near Beach on Lake

WILSON, N. Y. (AP)—The body of a Buffalo man who tried to swim to shore from his brother's boat was found floating near a Lake Ontario beach last night.

Sunday would have been the dead man's 17th wedding anniversary.

The victim, John Griffin, 45, had been boating Saturday with his brother, Maurice, 38, of Olcott. The brother told police that both had been drinking before they went out in the 18-foot power boat.

Police said the victim either jumped or fell into the water about 150 feet off shore. Griffin told them that his brother signaled that he was all right and was swimming to shore. He reportedly was a strong swimmer.

Griffin said he took the boat to shore and, when his brother failed to show up, notified police Saturday night. Sheriff's deputies and firemen searched the shore line on the theory he might have made it to shore.

A Niagara County coroner, Dr. Gerard Caccio, withheld a death certificate pending an autopsy. He said there were no apparent signs of violence on the body.

Griffin worked in a railroad yard near Buffalo.

Brewery Workers Return to Jobs

NEW YORK (AP)—Employees of four New York City breweries ratified new contracts Sunday and have returned to their jobs. The breweries had closed, halting distribution of beer for close to two weeks.

The workers are members of seven Teamsters locals, which negotiated two-year contracts with Schlitz, Leibmann, Schaefer and Piel last Friday.

Membership ratification was by a vote of almost 10-1—4,331 in favor and 444 against. Beer deliveries are to approach normal today.

Blackbird Gives Him Eagle Eye, Trouble

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—A blackbird — otherwise friendly and well behaved—makes like an infuriated eagle every time it spies Joseph Siniscalchi.

It doesn't bother his wife, Helen; their daughter, Donna, 10; or visitors.

But every time Siniscalchi puts his head out the door, the bird dives from a tree, screaming and wheeling over his head. When he comes home from work, the bird is waiting to attack.

It all started about two weeks ago while he was working in his garden. He thought he might have disturbed a nest. But he looked, and couldn't find any.

Mystified and fed up with it all, Siniscalchi said: "At first I thought was amusing. Now that bird is driving me crazy."

Keyboard Marathon Lasts Over 76 Hours

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Jack Mayer and Mrs. Noye Person played the piano for 76 hours 46 minutes and 3 seconds before halting the contest on the advice of a doctor Sunday.

Mayer, a supper club entertainer, and Mrs. Person, a former Rocky Mount, N.C., radio entertainer, were the last of six players who started the keyboard marathon Thursday morning.

The players got five-minute breaks every two hours until 1 p.m. Saturday, then 10-minute breaks.

Judges called it a tie and awarded Mrs. Person and Mayer each an $800 piano.

Man Steals Pool From Youngsters in Yard

DETROIT (AP)—John Steinmetz Jr., 4, and his brother Gary, 3, and two other youngsters were filling up a plastic swimming pool in the Steinmetz back yard so they could cool off.

A man in a pickup truck was driving down the alley and saw the children. He stopped his truck, jumped over a fence, grabbed the pool, threw it in his truck and took off. Police are searching for the man.

Six Die in Collision During Thundershower

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Two cars collided near here Sunday during a thundershower, killing six persons. Two others were injured critically.

Dead are Aaron Leitwein, 66; his wife Dathna, 64; their son, Harry Leitwein, 45; and his son, Dean, 13, all of Springfield; and Harry Leitwein, 45; and his son David, 13, Kansas City.

The injured are Bigelow's other son Tommy, 9, and Mrs. Harry Leitwein, 45.

Wild Dog Pack

The dog was killed near the Port Ewen plant of the Hercules Powder Company.

The animal, weighing about 50 pounds, was shot by Joseph H. Clark, a general contractor of Port Ewen, with a 30-06 rifle, according to Mabie.

Accompanying Clark was Floyd Light, a television serviceman, also of Port Ewen. Both are members of the Town of Esopus Sportsmen's Association, which had reports wild dogs were running deer in the area.

Second Dog Seen

Light, a past president of the association, said he and Clark saw another dog in the sector, a black and white one, which was much smaller.

Members of the West Esopus Landowners Association also took part in the July 4 hunt. Residents of the town owning dogs were asked to keep their animals indoors or tied for the day while the posse hunted the sheep killers.

Prior to the report that the large yellow dog had been shot, it was believed that the hunt was unavailing. Most of those taking part had not seen any dogs except some they knew were owned by people of the area—who let them run despite the warning.

Attack Flock Twice

The latest sheep raid by the pack was on the farm of Don Evans at Ulster Park, where the dogs killed 17 owned by Orazio Contini, who has pasture privileges on the 200-acre place of the well known professional wrestler.

Three other sheep were so badly bitten that they had to be destroyed, Evans said.

Last April 17, dogs killed 17 of the flock, but did not return again until late Friday night, June 27, or in the early morning of Saturday.

Evans said neither he nor his family heard any barking, which led him to believe the pack was wild, marauding like wolves.

Report Yellow Leader

Between the raids, it was reported, people had seen a large mongrel leading a pack of what looked like black police dogs. It was also reported they could be heard barking in the mountainous section of the town near the Evans farm.

A deputy sheriff who stood watch for a night after the June raid reported hearing the dogs, but that none came near the sheep pasture.

Fearful for Children

Evans, who allows children to use a pool on his farm to fish, feared the dogs might attack the youngsters, or even an adult, judging from the vicious way the sheep were bitten and some almost torn apart.

Following publication of pictures in the Freeman of the sheep, the posse was organized by Supervisor Mabie and the two town associations.

Steel Price Hike

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa. (AP)—Alan Wood Steel Co., one of the nation's smaller producers, did raise steel prices today as announced two weeks ago because of the need to remain competitive.

Alan Wood, with an annual capacity of 800,000 tons, had announced it would raise price an average of $6 a ton, effective today, as a result of a wage increase that became effective this month.

The average price of steel today is around $135 a ton.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged further into new high ground for 1958 in fairly active trading early this afternoon. Leading stocks rose from fractions to about a point.

The market was generally higher at the start. Prices improved slightly as the session wore on.

Tobacco stocks were jolted at the start by advance publication over the weekend of a new health survey on cigarette smoking. Their losses were moderate, however. Lorillard bounced back strongly from its loss and showed a net gain of about two points. Other tobaccos were mixed.

Losses Car Control

Violet Terwilliger, 21, of 66 Canal Street, Ellenville, lost control of her car on Route 55 at Honk Hill, near Napanoch, at 11:15 a. m., Sunday while traveling west. The car struck an electric light pole which was broken off but the wires failed to come down. She told state police from the Ellenville station she had lost control when apparently the steering gear went wrong. She was accompanied by her sister, Alice Terwilliger, 17.

At 7:55 o'clock Sunday evening two cars collided on Route 209 a mile north of Kerhonkson. John Wagner, 25, R.D. 3, East Syracuse, was proceeding south on Route 209. Irving Arnold, 91, Center Street, Ellenville, according to state police, failed to signal a turn and the Wagner car and one operated by Aurum Chaikin, 30, of Kerhonkson, collided. Evelyn Chaikin, 26, Kerhonkson, was injured and treated by Dr. Robert Bonomo of Kerhonkson. Arnold was arrested and on being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Abraham Smith entered a plea of not guilty and the case was adjourned to Friday.

Nathan Joseph Lax, 80, a guest at Mountain Brook Hotel, Ulster Heights, Town of Wawarsing, died of a heart attack Sunday. State Police at the Ellenville station notified his daughter, Ginger Loventhal, 6750 136th street, Kew Gardens, Coroner Charles Rosenstock of 40½ Center Street, was summoned and gave a verdict of death from natural causes. Lax had complained of not feeling well but had refused attention by a doctor. The body was turned over to the Laidlaw Funeral Home, Woodbourne.

As a diversion from policing traffic accidents, Ellenville state police were summoned to Spring Glen to investigate the disappearance of a Farmall Cub tractor which was reported stolen from the Homowack Lodge at Spring Glen, by Irving Glickstein. Neville Jennings, 37, an employee had taken the tractor to cut grass on the premises of other persons. The tractor was re-located. Jennings was discharged, state police reported, and the owner declined to press any charge.

Highland state police reported the weekend "quiet" with no serious accidents. Route 9W, once a heavily traveled route during the summer, now is relieved by the majority of traffic which uses the Thruway.

Traffic on the Thruway was reported "heavy" on Sunday but "moving freely" and there were no accidents in the Kingston area.

Donald Gene Demitt, 28, and Nina Demitt, 2, Glasco, were taken to Benedictine Hospital Sunday morning following an accident at Bardley Heights, Saunderson. He was treated for chest injuries and she for a leg injury and both were held for X-ray examination later.

According to a report filed with the sheriff's office, Demitt was traveling south on Route 9W when he failed to make a turn and struck a neon sign and large wooden sign on the Thomas Monteleone premises. The car ran 150 feet and overturned, coming to rest on its top. Deputy Sheriff Thomas F. Mayone, Harrison Rose and Arthur Roland investigated. The accident happened at 1:40 a. m. Sunday.

Raymond Smith of High Falls reported to the sheriff's office that his car had been struck by a Wagner Bakery truck from New Jersey while the Smith car was parked in front of the Rosellers Market, Rosendale. Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline investigated.

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

THE PRICE-CHASERS

Myriads of investors are price-chasers. They sell when they should buy; they buy when they should sell. Their entire investment philosophy is topsy-turvy.

To illustrate: in recent months an investor had some high grade 2½ per cent bonds mature. Without taking undue risks, he wanted to double his income by buying common stocks. One of the equities he selected was General Motors. It was selling at $40 a share at the time of his decision and with present annual dividends of $2 a share, the yield was 5 per cent.

The market was in a downturn and he entered an "open" order to buy 100 shares at $38 each. Prices continued to slide off and when General Motors hit $38½, he lowered his bid to $36. Two weeks later, when the stock sold for $36½, he cancelled his order entirely, believing the stock was on the way to $30. Furthermore, bearish sentiment pervaded the market and this got into his system. It sold below $34.

As this is written, General Motors is $40 and he is wondering, wondering what to do. If the market were suddenly to have an upward surge—his investment philosophy being what it is—he would buy 100 shares at the market when it is 44-45-46 because then he would believe the stock was on the way to $50 a share.

Bear markets feed upon themselves and bull markets do likewise because millions of investors are price-chasers. Furthermore, scores of advisory services and statistical organizations encourage price-chasing, either on the down—or the up-side. If anyone will read the wholesale advice being sent out by the tons, one will see that prices and timing are two important items in such advice.

Of course, price levels are important. But of far greater importance are sound investment policies. The majority of investors who chase prices up and down have no well-thought-out plan of investment operation. In their confusion they think they can buy on the bottom and sell on the top. For too often they do the reverse.

Price prognosticators have an impossible task. The economic world itself is baffling enough. Recently I interviewed the president of one of America's leading corporations. His industry is decidedly cyclical. He could give no clear opinion about how his own corporation would do in 1958. Add to that uncertainty the fuzzy thinking of speculators in his stock!

How can anyone predict how low the shares will go? Yet there are a dozen organizations that will give an opinion from $1 to $5.

Every investor and every speculator should have a well-worked-out plan of action. Policies of investment and of speculation should precede price decisions. When plans are well formulated, prices take their rightful and logical place.

A careful investor buys a sound stock when he has a surplus of cash that needs employment and when he can get a suitable return on his money.

To chase the price of General Motors down from $40 to $38 to $36 and then to cancel the order entirely indicates that the investor has no sound policy of investment. And until he gets one, he will be like a leaf waving in a stormy sky.

Whether an investor has a thousand or a million dollars, he should have a modus operandi. It should be based on savings plans and habits, investment goals and financial needs. It constitutes an integral part of every person's life.

Railroads Hear That Merger Would Help

NEW YORK (AP)—Three railroads, contemplating a merger, have received a report that indicates consolidation would make sizable economies possible.

That is all the Erie, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and the Delaware & Hudson would say Sunday about the contents of an exploratory study report prepared by Weyer, Dick & Co., transportation consultants.

The report now will be analyzed by a merger committee that will include executives of the three roads.

A merger would take a long time to effect. After the merger committee studies the matter, the boards of directors of the three lines would have to take it up. The owners of at least two-thirds of the stock of each company and the Interstate Commerce Commission also would have to approve a merger.

The three lines operate about 4,000 miles of railroad in seven states and Quebec Province and employ about 29,000.

Nuclear Scientists Exchange Blast Data

GENEVA (AP)—Nuclear scientists of east and west have begun an exchange of information on heretofore secret methods of detecting distant nuclear explosions.

The exchange of hitherto top secret information marked the first technical working stage of the eight-nation conference on control of a nuclear test ban. Despite a last-minute Russian threat to boycott the conference, the talks opened as scheduled, on July 1, and political matters were put aside to a later stage. Two meetings were needed to settle procedural questions. At the end of Saturday's meeting, at 2 1/2 hours, Dr. Hans Bethe, an American adviser, said both sides had submitted a detection plan that "went well beyond the scope of generally known knowledge."

Island Dock Built LCU on Turkish Coast

The LCU 1467 (Landing Craft Utility) shown on page five of Saturday's Freeman dispatched by Associated Press from Dikili off the west Turkish coast was one of the vessels built at Island Dock by ID Associates, Inc.

Roger W. Mabie, general manager of ID Associates, Inc. said the vessel made its trial run in the Hudson River June 24, 1954 and was delivered to the Navy at Brooklyn July 2, 1954. It was the first vessel delivered under the contract with the Navy and was featured on the front page of The Freeman on June 25, 1954.

Claims Seaway Ultimate Benefit To New York Port

NEW YORK (AP)—William B. Lawless Jr., president of the Buffalo City Council, says the St. Lawrence seaway will eventually benefit the Port of New York.

He says that at first the seaway, opening the Great Lakes to ocean-going shipping, may have an adverse effect on the Port of New York as overseas shippers take advantage of direct routes to be provided by the seaway.

Lawless discussed the impact of the seaway Sunday on a local radio program.

He said that after the seaway opens, Buffalo eventually will manufacture and ship additional items of commerce to New York City.

The seaway also will bring new freight traffic to railroads, Lawless said, adding: "With new trade coming to Buffalo, and new expansion, there will be new uses for railroads—freight sidings and freight traffic—and certainly the railroads will not lose any passenger traffic as a result."

Sucker Overall Helps Opponents

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

In my articles over the years I have stressed the undesirability of the so-called sucker overall.

Sometimes the sucker overall puts the bidder's head on the chopping block; other times it warns the opponents away from an impossible game contract. Occasionally it shows declarer how to play the hand and once in a while it helps the opposition get to a difficult slam.

As Ivan Erdos, well-known coast expert and writer points out in a magazine article, this particular East had no reason to make a vulnerable two heart overall. He did have 11 points and two aces, but his five card suit was quite weak and if South happened to have hearts East might have taken a big set.

South bid three diamonds and North raised him to four. Now South felt strong enough to show his heart void; North rebid his spades; South went to five clubs and this was enough for North. He jumped to the diamond slam. Ivan gives full credit to North and South for exemplary bidding, but points out that the game was duplicate and only one other pair got to the lay down slam. Hence, he feels that East was most helpful and should be remembered favorably by his lucky opponents.

There is no difference except shell color between white and brown eggs; they are identical nutritionally.

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying on time is still in style. Because of the trimming down of auto installment debt there's more of a chemise look today. But if you disregard auto credit (and it's still hefty by most standards) you'll find Americans increasing their purchases of other consumer goods on the cuff. Department stores report a steady climb in the amount of soft goods being sold on short term credit plans.

It's only the big ticket hard goods that take a long time to pay for that find the customers acting shy.

Prompter Payments

And the American Bankers Assn. reports that debtors are prompter in their payments than they were in the early months of 1958. The Northern Trust Co. of Chicago says that delinquencies and repossessions, although higher than a year ago, have not reached a stage considered serious. The ABA adds they appear to be receding in many parts of the country. But the American Collectors Assn. finds the delinquent, its particular problem, hard to collect from.

The Federal Reserve Board's largest figures show that at the start of June total installment credit was just under 33 billion dollars, down 600 million dollars from the end of January. During May consumers had taken on 3½ billion dollars of new installment debt, but repayments had topped this by 100 million dollars.

The shrinkage was all in auto loans. Outstanding were some 14½ billion dollars of commitments on cars, 183 million dollars less than at the start of May.

But other consumer goods had risen in May by 53 million dollars to 81.8 billion dollars to top year ago figures by 95 million dollars. Repair and modernization loans and personal loans also rose.

Report on Stories

A Standard Financial Corp. survey of 12,640 customers of 127 department stores throughout the country points up the selectivity of consumers during the recession. It reports that in the last 18 months revolving credit sales of soft goods in these stores exceeded the corresponding month of the previous year.

The average maturity of installment credit for soft goods is seven months, while the average maturity on auto debt is around 31 months.

Merchants and customers answering the survey stressed this time difference in their credit programs under current conditions.

"Consumers can see seven months ahead; they can't see 31 months ahead," the report concludes. "So they hold back on the long-term obligations."

Only in the case of electric appliances did any of the 127 stores report any easing of credit terms. The aim in that case was traced to efforts of factories to reduce heavy inventories.

In addition to an increase in the

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Matinee Theater sank quietly in the Sunday channels of daytime television at June's end, torpedoed by big expenses and small audiences.

Somewhat, it had managed to survive almost three years in spite of competition from quiz shows, musical shows and serials. It won wide critical acclaim, but for some time it has been unlabeled by NBC.

The network claims to have lost three million dollars putting on five hour-long live plays weekly. Its drooping ratings dampened sponsors' eagerness to help pay for the plays—even when they were Shakespeare.

In Matinee Theater's place have come two serials cast in the conventional mold of agony and much cheaper to produce.

Not Beyond Salvage

Meanwhile, however, Matinee Theater is not beyond salvage. It has developed a hard core of such devoted viewers that Mrs. John Conte, wife of the actor who was host on the show, was moved to organize the non-profit Foundation for the Preservation of Matinee Theater. To date, thousands of viewers have contributed more than $200,000 to get the show back on the air.

"And we would have much more if all our viewers knew about the Foundation," said Mrs. William Black, east coast chairman of the project. "We tried to buy spots on NBC asking viewers to contribute, but they wouldn't give us time."

Whether or not the Foundation is successful, the idea of thousands of women earnestly attempting to keep alive an intelligent, entertaining television show is stimulating and pleasant.

Women Might Contribute

Obviously NBC could not be expected to continue to drop a million dollars a year on a TV show, no matter how widely it was praised or beloved. Apparently it could survive only if moved to TV's public service time—Sunday afternoon—which has become increasingly egghead and increasingly lacking in sponsors.

Mrs. Black, however, thinks sponsors—even soap manufacturers—are missing a good bet. "After all, thousands of women have demonstrated how much they like the show—and with contributions," she said. "I think the sponsor who gave Matinee Theater back to its public would be such a hero the audience would make sure his product sold. After all, that's what a sponsor wants, isn't it?"

Red Reversals Remain Sudden

Changing Khrushchev Tactics Seen Without Explanation

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of our troubles is that we can't see through Premier Khrushchev's head. He extends a friendly hand one minute, a fist the next. But we don't know what he has up his sleeve.

A great many Americans have tried to analyze the meaning of the recent on-again-off-again Soviet tactics. But this writer hasn't seen or heard of one explanation yet that looks foolproof.

Internal Conflict

It's possible the Soviets' sudden reversals in recent months—from nice to nasty to nice—are the product of simple bumbling and stumbling in foreign policy or of internal Communist party conflicts hidden from sight.

It's also possible the Soviets don't care much what they do or say from month to month so long as they keep a couple of balls in the air, make propaganda, and keep stalling on disarmament or finding ways to prevent surprise attacks.

What Khrushchev has in mind for 3, or 5, or 10 years from now for the United States is something we can only guess at. And in this contest guessing carries a chilly feeling.

Possible Stalling

For, through all the shifting gears of the Kremlin one guess—some thought persists: Is Khrushchev stalling until he feels strong enough to wipe us out with a surprise attack? That's possible too.

It's almost certain neither side is going to talk seriously about disarmament, and for various reasons. One is enough: so long as both are heavily armed each has a measure of safety from attack by the other.

But how much safety from surprise attack each has is something only the top men on both sides know. It would seem to behoove this country to keep its defenses A-1 for years to come.

An individual in this country who tried to make perfect sense out of all the Soviet twists, following them down the dark alleys of the mind, could wind up in a loony bin. An example is given near the end of this story.

This year, after spending months building up propaganda for a summit meeting, or appearing to do so, Khrushchev all but knocked the idea of a summit conference out the window.

Geneva Talks

The same with the Geneva talks, where American and Communist scientists are now discussing ways to prevent cheating if there is agreement against further nuclear testing. At the last minute the Soviets seemed to be scuttling the meeting. Then they sent their scientists to Geneva.

And Khrushchev this past week, after practically torpedoing a summit conference, proposed to President Eisenhower technical talks on how to prevent surprise attacks. He failed to acknowledge that Eisenhower himself had proposed this last January.

Khrushchev knows what this country wants to prevent surprise attack: a good inspection system. But Sunday Pravda, right on the heels of Khrushchev's proposal, made a joke of any inspection system.

Solution Unsolved

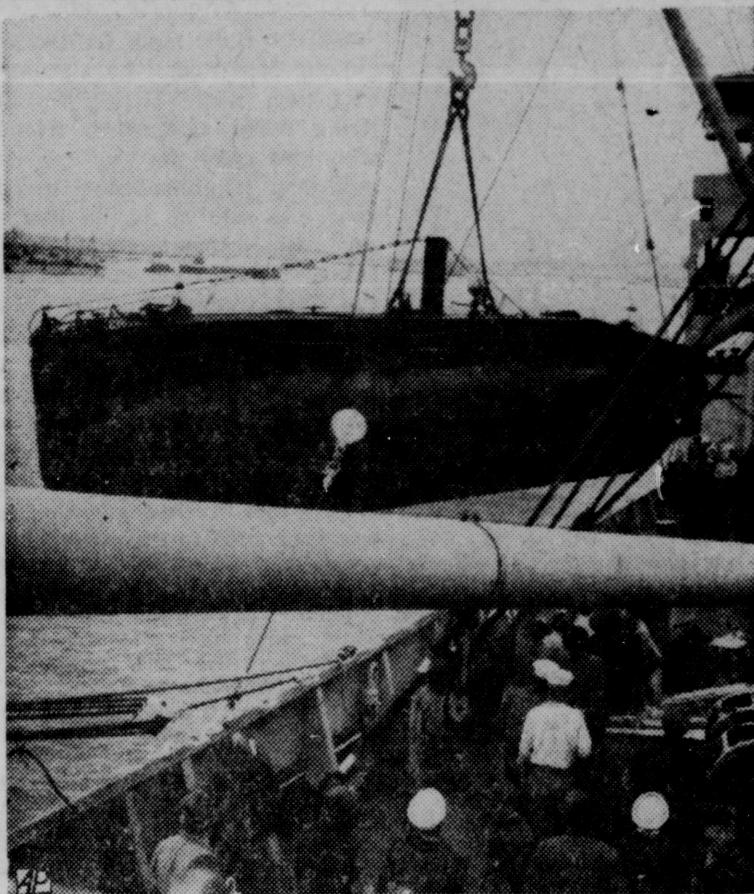

The Communist party newspaper suggested American inspection teams, in flying over the Soviet Union, might gather intelligence information for an American surprise attack.

If there's to be no inspection system, what's the solution? Just trust, Pravda said. That's some answer. Since there's no trust at all, both sides will remain heavily armed and capable of attack.

Which brings up a question: Why did Khrushchev mention it at all? Maybe just to keep talking.

Curiosity

The green rose is not a climber, but belongs to the group of China roses. Aside from its interest as a curiosity, it is of no garden value.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That for 28 per cent of the country's estimated 39 million married couples, both husband and wife have jobs outside the home. The tired business woman may soon outnumber the tired business man.

Pooch, Population

That this is the century of the common dog as well as the common man. America's pooch population has leaped 44 per cent in the last decade.

That the Romans were the first people to use silver widely as money.

That U. S. insect pests nullify the labor of at least one million workers a year.

Specialized Music

That music is really getting specialized. The owner of the Mermec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., has hired Dr. Sigismund Spaeth to make selections of "music to be listened to in a cave."

That a survey showed 15 million American women are overweight. The rest just think they are.

That no ship is launched on Friday because of a sailor superstition to do so would bring bad luck.

That this is the newest definition of a witch: "A flying sorceress."

That a New York hotel has been forced to abandon its experiment of having the waitresses wear sack dress uniforms. . . . Both the waitresses and the patrons complained.

That Dr. Carlton Fredericks, the nutritionist, says licorice is an excellent natural substitute for tranquilizer pills.

That a new fad has cropped up in the college set—eating lighted cigarettes. Well, anyway they're cheaper than goldfish.

That a recent study showed the average Harvard freshman is half an inch taller than the average Yale freshman. But then Yale has never been the same since it lost Frank Merriwell.

Batons and Lumber

That bandleader Sammy Kaye during his career has given away 250,000 souvenir batons. So-o-o-o, wouldn't you know, he is being honored by the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn.

That, according to the Fisherman's Magazine, a fish has such a poorly developed nervous system it feels no great pain when hooked.

That some 40 million American women today are said to make all or part of their clothing. If this is so, where are they hiding?

That Mamie Eisenhower, a good hand at canasta, now prefers a faster-playing version of the game called Bolivia.

Terra Firma

That an elephant is happier when traveling by air if a hen is perched on its head. But the average man would rather have a chick on his arm.

That litterbug motorists tossed about 100,000 tons of debris on the nation's highway over the holiday weekend. Most popular item: the beer can.

That Wyoming has a town named Dull Center. And New Mexico has one called Stinging Lake.

That a hummingbird's heart beats 615 times a minute.

That seven out of every 100 U.S. school children have below normal hearing.

That it was Ralph Waldo Emerson who observed: "That time, like all times, is a very good one if we but knew what to do with it."

In Field Firing Test

Army Specialist Third Class Bernard G. Redmond, son of Mrs. Catharine M. Redmond, 20 Summer Street, recently participated in a field firing test conducted by the V Corps, 57th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion near Tondorf, Germany.

Specialist Redmond is regularly assigned as a clerk in the battalion's Headquarters Battery in Hanau. He entered the army in November 1956 and completed basic training at Fort Hood, Tex.

The 25-year-old soldier is a 1951 graduate of Kingston High School and a 1955 graduate of St. Joseph's College, Yonkers.

A GLASS OF MILK A DAY

You'll say one glassful isn't enough! But to thousands of children overseas, who rarely know how it feels to have a full stomach, it's like a gift from heaven. Some will gulp it down. Others have to be taught to like this white liquid they can't remember ever having tasted. Providing a glass of milk a day for millions of children is one of the vital aid programs carried on by America's 3 great faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish. It's only one small phase of programs that save countless lives overseas. Support your faith's OVERSEAS AID PROGRAM.

Hearing Opens on State Adoption Laws Adequacy

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A city with a tragedy still fresh in the public mind becomes the scene this week of a legislative hearing into the lot of New York State's wandering children.

The Joint Legislative Committee on Matrimonial and Family Laws opens a two-day hearing Tuesday in Buffalo into the adequacy of the state's adoption laws.

First in Series

It is particularly apropos that the Western New York metropolis be the setting for this hearing, the first of a series.

In Buffalo last May, 7-year-old Sheila Dooling died of malnutrition. Her 9-year-old sister, Helen, was discovered bruised and emaciated. Four persons, including the children's natural mother and the man and woman who adopted them, await trial on manslaughter charges.

Mrs. Janet Hill Gordon, Republican assemblywoman from Norwich who heads the legislative committee, feels that the outcry over the Dooling tragedy is an opportunity to be seized.

Apathy Is Blamed

She blames public apathy as the cause of defeats in attempts to amend the state's adoption laws. No major change has been made since World War II.

Mrs. Gordon said in an interview that the committee hopes to hear proposals to make the law better. The committee has its own ideas, too. Mrs. Gordon told The Associated Press she believed there were three areas where the law should be improved:

1. Family court should be established and their jurisdiction made to cover nearly all family matters, including adoptions.

Proceeding in 2 Courts

In the Dooling case, she said, the adoption of the children was approved in County Court while neglect proceedings were being brought in Childrens Court against the prospective parents. The County Court judge was not told of the proceedings in the other court.

Childrens Court judge dismissed the neglect case on the ground that adoption proceedings were going on in County Court.

2. There should be a central registry of children placed in foster homes through private placements. There is no registration required

now. "It's anybody's guess how many kids are being passed from hand to hand in New York State," she declared. These are the state's wandering children and usually no one knows anything about them until there is flagrant abuse that results in criminal proceedings.

Urges Rigid Probes

3. There should be more rigid standards for investigations in adoptions and for investigators.

In the Dooling case, Mrs. Gordon said, the County Court judge appointed the petitioners' attorney to investigate the petitioners to see if they were fit parents. This involved a "conflict of interest, normal if not legal," she said. Such procedures are the practice in other parts of the state too, she added.

Mrs. Gordon believes there should be a centralized state agency to investigate and regulate adoptions and foster-placements.

There are, of course, established social agencies in many parts of the state that investigate adoptions and regulate foster-placements. But, Mrs. Gordon said, about half the state has a dearth of agencies and, on the other hand, large areas are "crawling with agencies."

The hearings may produce proposals that will solve the problem.

Summer Theatres

Ellenville Theatre
"Brigadoon" that wonderful, lyrical musical of misty old Scotland is on stage this week underneath the big tent at the Ellenville Music Theatre.

One of the most popular and successful productions ever to appear on Broadway originally had better than a two-year run there. Last year a revival was presented for a limited two-week showing but the demand for tickets was so great that the latest version of "Brigadoon" was moved to a larger theatre where it ran to packed houses for another six weeks.

Featured in the Ellenville Music Theatre presentation is Jet MacDonald, a very lovely redhead with a magnificent voice, who has the part of Fione.

In the play of the mythical village which reappears only once every one hundred years John Stratton will have the leading role of "Tommy" as a hunter, who with his partner "Jeff" played by Ned Wertimer, quite accidentally wanders into "Brigadoon."

There will be six evening performances, Tuesday through Sunday, and a special matinee Thursday afternoon.

Frank Forest, managing director of the Empire State Music Festival, said this week, "after the tremendous wonderful acclaim our audiences and the press have to our first offering 'The Most Happy Fella' I know those who come to see 'Brigadoon' this week are in for an even bigger treat."

"Brigadoon" will be replete not only with kilts, bagpipes and lighting but the setting designed by Hal Shafer will be startling in its beauty and effect.

James Russo, Ellenville Music Theatre Music Director, rehearsed the cast all last week and said he was eminently pleased with the contributions of every single member of the company.

Evening performances are at 8:30 and tickets can be reserved by calling Ellenville Music Theatre.

Phoenicia Playhouse
"Separate Tables," starring Clinton Anderson and Marguerite Lenert will be presented at the Phoenicia Playhouse, July 8-13 as the second production of the season. It is written by England's outstanding contemporary playwright, Terrence Rattigan.

Mr. Anderson, who plays the reporter and the Major in the play, is more than amply qualified. Veteran of more than 150 stock roles, he was recently seen in the movie "The Quiet American," and just before coming to Phoenicia was with a touring company of "No Time for Sergeants."

Marguerite Lenert, who plays the female leads, appeared in three roles at the Playhouse last season, and during the winter made two appearances in New York—"A Trip to Bountiful," with the Equity Library Theatre, and "The Long Gallery," with the RNA Theatre.

Hyde Park Playhouse
Opening on Tuesday, July 7 at Hyde Park Playhouse will be the Broadway smash hit, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." Cast consists of resident players. Judging by last week's "Visit to a Small Planet," theatre-goers are in for a night of good entertainment.

Woodstock Playhouse
Opening Tuesday at Woodstock Playhouse will be "The Entertainer." As in the past, Abe Sainer will present a fine list of plays this season. "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" played to capacity audiences throughout last week and received fine reviews.

Turnau Opera
Turnau Opera Company will present "Cinderella" on Tuesday and Wednesday. Friday and Saturday audiences will hear "The Telephone" and "The Ticket."

THE OLD WITCH, played by Lucille Sulam in the Turnau Opera production of "Hansel and Gretel" rehearses with some of the Woodstock children who were featured in the chorus. Here the jovial youngsters get ready to pop the witch into the oven. (Freeman photo).

WHEN ONE HAS GUESTS

Dear Mrs. Post: Last Sunday afternoon while sitting in our living room talking to friends who had come to visit us, our next-door neighbor came to the door and said he would like to see my husband about something. I called my husband and the next thing I knew he was going next door to our neighbor. He was gone almost an hour. I found out later that he wanted my husband's opinion on some work he was doing in his house. After our company had gone I told my husband that he was very rude to leave the house when we had guests. I think he should have explained to our neighbor that we had guests and could not leave. He said he couldn't refuse this neighbor's request and that as long as I was there with our guests it was not wrong for him to leave. What is your opinion?

Answer: I agree with you that your husband should have explained that he could not leave his guests for more than a very few minutes. He could have added that he would come over as soon as they left.

Introducing Mother

Dear Mrs. Post: How should mother be introduced to my friends? Please tell me the most friendly and natural way.

Answer: "Miss Green, may I introduce you to my mother," or else, "Mother, this is Mary Green"—and with a pause add, "Mrs. John Green" if she is married and there is doubt of your mother's knowing whether she is Mrs. or Miss. If you give no explanation, then your mother takes it for granted that she is Miss.

On Eating Pie

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to eat pie with a spoon—especially pie served with ice cream? Answer: Not impossible but better to use a fork for pie—even with ice cream. A spoon is proper when it is a deep dish juicy fruit pie.

Details for the use of a service plate, finger bowls and place cards are included in leaflet E-30, "Table Settings and Service." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Byrdcliff Opera Group Living Proof Culture Is Not on Wane in America; Variety Offered

By DOROTHY NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

In the magazine section of the New York Times on Sunday, Russell Lynes states that "our culture (American) has been dismissed by foreigners as nonexistent. The fact is," he says, "it is flourishing as never before, so much so that it is exported around the world."

Evidence of the current trend and bearing out Mr. Lynes' statements, is a small group of adventurous and exciting people who form the Turnau Opera Company at Byrdcliff, Woodstock.

It is no small task to produce some of the finest works, construct sets, costumes, rehearse and still be bright and fresh for each night's performance. Yet the almost impossible is accomplished with a great flare at Turnau.

Lodged on the mountainside at Byrdcliff is the picturesque opera house, Byrdcliff itself, was founded in 1903 by Ralph Radcliff-Whitehead who came to the United States in search of a site where he and others of like persuasion might build a colony of arts and crafts.

Whitehead Tradition
The objectives of the elder Whitehead are now being carried on by his son, Peter. Ralph Whitehead, an Oxford scholar, had been a pupil of John Ruskin and a friend of William Morris. Inspired by the principles and ideals of these two literary and cultural giants, he determined that such a movement would find expression in America.

According to a brochure issued by the Turnau Opera Company, Mr. Whitehead and a group of dedicated craftsmen, working in the tradition of Ruskin and Morris, established shops where they practiced woodcarving, woodworking, weaving, metal work and other such crafts as were then widespread in Europe.

The present lounge of Byrdcliff Theatre once housed a library of some 5,000 books which Ralph Whitehead had selected. The Phoenix Players under Ben Webster and Richard Aldrich made Byrdcliff Theatre their home in the summer of 1923.

In 1930 Richard Boleslawsky and Mr. Cuspensky brought their Summer School of Dramatics to Byrdcliff.

Venismo, the original producer of Yellow Jacket had a successful season there. With the advent of opera to the Byrdcliff Theatre, the circle of almost every conceivable form of artistic endeavor has been completed. The Turnau Opera Players are now playing a large role in carrying on a great American cultural tradition.

Origin of Turnau
Turnau Opera Players originated with a group of former students of the late Professor Josef Turnau, who was on the staff of Hunter College and is named in his honor. Mrs. Turnau, who is manager director of the Hunter College Opera Association, is the inspiration of the entire group. A native of Texas, she exhibits a fierce will for work. Not only is she set designer, but also costume designer, contact woman, make-up artist and general director. A graduate of Texas Christian University, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and the Barnes Foundation Museum School, Mrs. Turnau has had an excellent background of many years' experience in various phases of fine arts, advertising and publicity. Her association with the world of opera is a long standing one.

Contemporary Works
Surrounded with the finest performers, Mrs. Turnau also presents productions representative of the contemporary American Lyric Theatre. These include Menotti's "The Telephone" and "The Ticket" by Saul Honigman.

A highlight of the fourth season will be Mozart's "The Abduction from the Seraglio," Massenet's "The Portrait of Manon" and Ravel's comedy "L'Heure Espagnole." A repeat performance of "Cosi fan tutte" is also included in this season's program.

Singing with the group this year are Alan Baker, baritone, Ara Berberian, basso, Carolyn Christian, soprano, Ray De Voll, tenor, Eugene Flam, baritone, Lucille Sulam, soprano, and Joan Wall, mezzo-soprano.

On the production staff are Frederick Popper, musical director and conductor; Melvin Strauss, associate musical director; Barbara Owens, stage director; Rosalind Gordon and Phyllis Cohon, scenic designers; Renate Auber, choreographer; Ward Pinner, technical director and lighting designer; Gloria Morais, stage manager; Marie Salvatore, theatre manager; Charles P. Balsam, publicity director.

Professional Standing
The Turnau Opera Players has, from its inception, had standing with the singers union, The American Guild of Musical Artists, and values highly the professional standing that it has maintained.

For the past two seasons, according to the Turnau brochure, the company has been organized as a non-profit educational institution and enjoys a tax exempt status with the Federal Government. It is a pilot attempt to take professional opera into smaller American communities and, with low operating costs and artistic productions, show that opera can succeed without being a major charity in the country's largest cities. Another educational function is that of furnishing experience to young singers and production personnel who have completed workshop training by enabling them to perform regularly before audiences.

Forty singers, musicians and production staff have summered with the company, to date, and have profited by this experience which is almost unobtainable in the United States.

"The real culture of America must be measured by its feel and not by its weight," says Times writer Russell Lynes, "by its texture and not by its size. And in the long run, it is the echo not the shout, that matters."

Turnau Opera Players represent true culture—its productions represent quality and its reputation for fine performances echos not only throughout Woodstock, but all of New York.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, in and for the County of Ulster, do hereby certify that the following is a true and correct copy of the will of the late WILLIAM L. ROOSA, late of the County of Ulster, deceased, as the same appears from the records of the County of Ulster, New York, dated July 1958, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, why a certain instrument in writing, dated October 19th, 1958, relating to both real and personal estate, presented to said Surrogate's Court, should not be proved, admitted to probate and recorded as the last will and Testament of WILLIAM L. ROOSA, late of the County of Ulster, deceased, upon the petition of Herman Roosa of the City of Kingston, the Executor named therein.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused the seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS, HON. CHARLES H. GAFFNEY, Surrogate of said County of Ulster, at Kingston, N. Y., this 20th day of June, 1958.

MATTHEW A. WEISHAUP, JR., Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

Kansas City Monarchs Play Memphis Sox at Stadium Tonight

Official League Contest Brings Crack Clubs Here.

They turn back the baseball clock nearly two decades to tonight at Dietz Stadium when the fabled Kansas City Monarchs meet the Memphis Red Sox in an official Negro American League contest at 8:30 o'clock.

The Monarchs, defending champions in the Negro league, attracted more than 4,000 fans when they defeated the Kingston Receptions in the pre-war period.

The attendance will not remotely approach that figure to night, but the fans who turn out will be rewarded by Negro baseball at its best.

Kansas City, which gave Jackie Robinson and Willard Brown to the major leagues, still has the aging Brown, now 35, and still a power hitter of distinction.

Youthful Teams

With major leagues grabbing Negro prospects as soon as they materialize, the emphasis, of course, is on youth in the Negro American League. Both teams adhere to that policy.

Pitching choices have not been announced but probable starters are Willie Lee for Kansas City and Jim Woods for Memphis. Players to watch are Lee and Harold Hair of the Monarchs, both hitting at a .400 clip, and James Banks, Memphis first sacker, who is clubbing .333 at the moment.

The probable lineups:

72 Sets Pace for State Amateur

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—Roger Shepard and Gerry Dimmick fired par 72 Sunday to pace the seven Binghamton district qualifiers for the State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Other qualifying were Mike Jaros, with 72; Bob Sisolak, with 73; Karl Krupitza, with 75; and Ray Ziari and John Pollock, with 76.

The alternates are Warren Buxton, who shot 77, and Ken Saunders, who had 78.

Other districts will hold qualifying rounds today through July 13. The state tournament will be held at the Yahnudis Country Club, outside Utica, July 23-27.

Giants Stay on Braves' Heels

Delock Tames Yanks for 7th

SF Trails by One Half-Way; Braves Win 2-0

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Giants are still pulling off ninth inning heroics, one of the reasons San Francisco continues to hound Milwaukee, hanging on only one game behind the league leading Braves today.

For the third straight day, the Giants won a game in the ninth inning Sunday scoring the winning run in that frame. With the bases full, two out and the score tied in the last of the ninth, Cardinal relief pitcher Larry Jackson plunked Jimmy Davenport with a pitch, forcing over the winning run.

Jackson Down

It was Jackson's second straight loss. He got in a jam by walking pitcher Red Worthington with one out. Whitey Lockman singled, Willie Kirkland forced Lockman and Willie Mays drew an intentional pass, filling the bases. Jackson's first pitch to Davenport hit him in the back.

Philadelphia's Phillies extended their winning streak to seven by defeating Cincinnati 7-1, but the Redlegs won the second game of the doubleheader 11-4. The Braves broke their five-game losing streak as Joey Jay hurled a 2-0 shutout against Pittsburgh. Chicago's Cubs, behind the one-hit pitching of Dick Drott and Don Elston, defeated Los Angeles 6-2.

Jay in Shutout

Jay, the Braves' 22-year-old bonus right-hander, throttled the Pirates with only four hits for his second victory in five decisions. Wes Covington batted in both Milwaukee runs with a single in the fifth and a home run in the seventh, both against Art Raydon.

In the Cubs' second straight triumph at Los Angeles, Drott won his fourth in ten decisions. He had a no-hitter until Jim Gilliam got the lone Dodger hit, a single with one out in the seventh.

Drott, however, had to be replaced after he forced in a run in the seventh with his eighth pass.

Gus Bell rapped four hits and drove in four runs to pace Cincinnati's 15-hit attack in the second game victory after the Phillies' longest winning streak of the season in the opener. Rookie pitcher Ray Semproch limited the Redlegs to five hits for his 10th triumph as the Phils made it seven in a row in the first game.

Polk Captures Flag Tourney

Bill Polk went to the 21st tee with his allotment of strokes to capture the 4th of July Flag tournament at Woodstock Country Club. He was out in 33 and back in 37 for a par 70 for the regulation distance.

Runnerup was Mrs. Harry (Libby) Kennedy, who got off a tee shot on the 20th hole. Her husband was third, finishing in the cup on the 19th hole. Paul Mitchell landed on the 19th green for fourth place and Fred Allen was fifth on the edge of the 19th.

Bill Waterous put together nines of 32 and 35 for low gross of 67.

Mrs. Wiggie de Lisio led the ladies contingent with low gross of 76 on nines of 36 and 40.

Jensen, Ted Lead Assault On 5 Hurlers

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

In spring training, Ivan (Ike) Delock was just another name on the Boston Red Sox roster. Manager Mike Higgins had plans for him, but only in relief roles, No. 2 behind Lefty Leo Kieley.

Today, as Higgins takes inventory during the season's half-way turn, he shudders to think where his second place Sox would be without Delock. Ike not only has blossomed into a starting pitcher but he has become the team's biggest winner and the ace of the staff.

7th For Delock

The 28-year-old right-hander won his seventh game without defeat Sunday as the Red Sox defeated the New York Yankees 10-4. It was Boston's first victory over the American League leaders since April 16 and only the second in eight decisions this season.

The Yankees remained 11 games in front of Boston and Kansas City, tied for second. The A's were beaten by Cleveland 8-5. Detroit nipped Chicago 2-1 and Washington came from behind to shade Baltimore 4-3.

Mantle Hits 21st

After limiting the Yankees to four hits through seven innings, Delock was clipped for three more hits in the eighth, including Mickey Mantle's 21st home run. Ike received credit for snapping the Yankees' five-game winning streak, however, when Kieley replaced him with two runners on base and one out and retired the next five batters.

Delock, counting his last four decisions in 1957, now owns a string of 10 successive victories.

Ted, Jensen Soar

Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen paced the Red Sox's 13-hit attack against loser Don Larsen and five relievers. Each collected three hits. Williams rapped his 14th home run and Jensen drove in three runs to raise his league leading RBI total to 68. Jackie has hit safely in his last 15 games.

Jim Bunning racked up his fifth straight victory with a six-hit performance for the Tigers against the White Sox. The loser was Dick Donovan, his 10th in 13 decisions.

Cleveland rookie Gary Bell hurled a seven-hit game for his third victory in his first complete game in the majors. Ned Garver, who had beaten the Indians three times as the Kipper.

Relief pitcher Dick Hyde assured Washington of its first home victory against Baltimore since May 27, 1957, by retiring three straight Orioles in the ninth. Russ Kemmerer was the winner.

Subways Beat Ten Grand, 10-6

Ten Grand Tavern rallied for five runs in the bottom of the seventh but still fell far short of Subway Grill in a 10-6 loss. Vince Peck made his debut as a Subway pitcher when his team led 9-0 and gave up six runs in the last two innings.

Spada and Peck limited the Grands to five hits. Subway picked up 10 off Lasher and Enright, including two each by Cea and Holstein. Jake Smith rapped a triple.

Red Sox, Cubs Win in Rondout

The Red Sox edged the Braves 3-1 and the Cubs drubbed the Tigers, 16-8 in a Rondout Valley Little League doubleheader over the weekend.

The Sox scored all its runs in the fourth inning of a well-pitched contest between Garry Sutherland and Lyle Dimler.

Norm Rider socked two of the Braves three hits. Dimler had 10 strikeouts.

The summaries:

Red Sox 000 300—3
Braves 010 000—1

Ortale, Byrnes, Schneider Score Their First Aces

The air hovering over country club fairways have been filled with holes-in-one during the past week.

Three area golfers—two from Kingston's Twaalfskill and another from Woodstock Country Club—scored aces and in each case it was a career first.

The trio includes Robert M. Ortale, Kingston attorney, and George Schneider, the jeweler, both scored on Twaalfskill's famed breeding ground of aces—the No. 2 hole. Schneider was playing with Dr. Elbert MacFadden, Jack Garon and his son.

Harry Byrnes, one of the county's best amateurs, canned his tee shot on Woodstock's 4th hole on July 3 and was packaged with a brilliant 5-under-par round of 65. It was Byrnes' first hole-in-one in a 30-year career.

Star-Studded Field

Invitational Tourney Tuesday at Twaalfskill

Defending champion, Mrs. Gerald Hallenbeck of Catskill, heads an impressive field in what is expected to be a record breaking entry list for the annual Twaalfskill Women's Invitational Tuesday.

Entries have been received from Wiltwyck, Woodstock, Rip Van Winkle Country Club (Palenville), Shawangunk (Ellenville), Red Hook, Catskill, Powelton of Newburgh and Dutchess Golf and Country Club of Poughkeepsie.

Other champions in the field will be Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris of the host club; Mrs. Anthony J. (Wiggie) de Lisio of Woodstock and Mrs. Frank Prior of Wiltwyck.

Mrs. Harris won the Wiltwyck Invitational last Wednesday by a one-stroke margin over Mrs. de Lisio. With Mrs. Hallenbeck, this trio is expected to furnish some real shooting in quest of Class A honors.

The tournament will be played as usual in three classes, A, B and C, with full club handicaps. Prizes will be awarded for low gross and low net in each class. The prizes will be awarded at a luncheon following the tournament.

Jim Mackey and Mustion Pace NY-NJ Triumph

The Saugerties Dutchmen broke out with a five-run rally in the opening frame and proceeded to tally a 11-3 win over the Jersey City Colored Cardinals in the New York-New Jersey League yesterday at Cantine Field.

It was the third victory for the Ulster squad which got fine pitching from Jim Mackey and a rash of base hits, four of them by Bill Mustion.

The Dutchmen finished Al Harrison in the first when it rallied for five runs. The big blows in that inning were Mustion's double and Joe Martin's two-run single after successive hits by McCaig and Brice and an infield error loaded the sacks.

After Martin's single had scored a pair, Mustion's double sent two more across. Donny Mormile closed it out by rapping a single to left, scoring Mustion.

Two walks, a double by Schaffer and back to back singles by Bill Straub, Martin and Mustion accounted for four more runs in the sixth, off Charlie Williams who had taken over for Harrison.

Mackey had a shutout for five innings. The Cards tallied their first run in the sixth and came back for two more in the seventh when Mackey was unable to find the plate. He walked nine batters and gave up five hits, three of them to Freddy Williams, Cards' hard-hitting first sacker.

The women's division was won by Mrs. Ed Strohsahl, who finished 10 feet from the cup on the 18th hole.

David Eyles won first prize in the three-day Ringer tournament with net 66, with Harvey Bostics net 68 good for second prize.

The United States had 36,494 foreign students in this country last year.

Richard Wood won the 1958 President's Cup competition at the Twaalfskill Club Sunday with a 36-hole net score of 132.

Wood finished a stroke ahead of four runnersup, posting rounds of 85 and 81 for a 166 gross. He had full handicap of 34 for the 36 holes for a net 132. A record field of 35 players competed for the coveted cup.

Deadlocked for second place were George Hughes, club champion; Harry Kaprelian, Charles P. Vogel and Edward Minasian with 133; Hughes playing with 3 handicap, carded low gross with 68-71-139.

Judge Louis G. Bruhn and John Larkin tied at 134. Locked in a four-way tie at 135 were Austin Boyd, Jr., James Fuller, George (Ace) Schneider and Dr. Rodney Ball. Also, bettering par in the net division were Richard Overbagh 136, Alvin Boice 138 and Floyd W. Flint 139. Boice had second low gross of 71-75-146.

The 36-hole summaries:
Richard Wood, 85-81-166-34-132; George Hughes, 68-71-139-6-

133; Harry Kaprelian, 78-75-153-20-133; Charles Vogel, 80-85-165-32-133; Edward Minasian, 84-91-175-42-133.

Judge Louis G. Bruhn, 77-75-152-18-134; John Larkin, 90-96-186-52-134; Austin Boyd, Jr., 81-82-163-28-135; James Fuller, 81-82-163-28-135; George Schneider, 77-80-157-22-135; Dr. Rodney Ball, 79-80-159-24-135; Richard Overbagh, 76-78-154-18-136; Alvin Boice, 71-75-146-8-138; Floyd W. Flint, 88-89-177-38-139.

For all other cars, including pre-'54 cars and foreign makes, use Blue Sunoco '200'. Special sports cars may need Custom-Blend '240' or even '280'.

NEXT COMES CUSTOM-BLENDING'S BIG SURPRISE BENEFIT!

Make your first tankful the Custom-Blend shown here for your car. Next tankful, drop down to next lower Custom-Blend... and keep dropping until your engine itself demonstrates you have the lowest priced octane grade for sweet running power and mileage. This exclusive benefit of Custom-Blending... 4 exact octane grades Blending... 6 different prices... helps you grade gas costs down while keeping your engine's performance at its peak! Try it today!

On the spot, new wonder-pump blends six thriftier, precision octane grades...to fit exact need of every car running today!

6 different prices scaled down penny-by-penny, grade-by-grade to save you money!

Ready and waiting for you... today's Big Difference in gasoline! A far better, thriftier way to get gas. Pull into your nearest Sunoco station and start enjoying these benefits today!

"Premium" Buyers! Save up to 4¢ a gallon over other "premiums"—and get exactly right gasoline for your engine.

"Regular" Buyers! Get higher octane at "regular" price with Blue Sunoco '200'... proved higher octane for most "regular" users.

"Super-Premium" Buyers! Get highest octane sold anywhere, at any price.

All Car Owners! Get finest possible performance and mileage...fast starting...snappy pickup...non-fouling...non-stalling...clean burning...gasoline that really gives your engine muscle!

You get these benefits only from Sunoco Custom-Blending—the one sure, proved way you may step down in gasoline costs while stepping up your engine performance.

Today's finest gasoline values for your car!

HOW IT WORKS... Dial (A) is set for one of six Custom-Blends. This controls proportions from each of two tanks. In one, premium quality Blue Sunoco '200'—a famous High-test gas sold at "regular" price; in other tank, Sunoco Octane Concentrate. Pumping-controls deliver exact Blend.

WANT-AD WONDERS

Want Ad Started Nellie's Career

Star newspaper woman of the '90s, Nellie Bly who started at $5 a week and later made $25,000 annually, got started because of a Want Ad.

She had written an unsigned letter critical of an article in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The paper printed her letter, then placed an ad to locate the unknown writer. She saw the ad, came in, and sold the editor on hiring her.

Claims Robot Can Match Partial Brain Functions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced today the partial development of an electronic robot it says will be able to match some of the functions of the human brain.

It calls the robot a Perceptron. At least another year will be required to complete the first full pilot model, the Navy said, but its principle and concept already have been demonstrated successfully by using a large electronic computer.

Different From Computer

When it is fully developed, the machine is expected to be able to perceive, recognize and identify its surroundings without any human training or control. It differs from the ordinary computer in that it does not have to be fed facts and figures in advance.

Among the potential uses to which such a robot eventually may be put, the announcement said, are these:
New-type automatic landing systems and automatic pilots for aircraft... automatic reading of the printed or written word... responding to verbal commands... automatic language translation, either in written or vocal form... automatic unearthing of scientific and other information buried in library books... and even rapid recognition of musical compositions, with all the accuracy of a music critic.

Dr. Frank Rosenblatt, research psychologist at the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Inc., working under a contract with the Office of Naval Research, came up with the Perceptron concept.

The first Greek letter fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., as a social club. There was a ritual with secret vows, a motto, a grip and a badge. Between 1820 and 1883 Phi Beta Kappa changed its character to that of an honor society limited to members of high standing. In 1893 it began admitting women.

DAD-WEBELOS WEEKEND — Cub Scouts and their fathers learn the art of knot tying at the specially constructed knot-tying rack at a recent Dad-Webelos weekend at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett. Cub Scouts and fathers from Cub Scout Pack 12, Old Dutch Church and Cub Scout Pack 26, Port Even School Association were among the more than 50 attending the event.

Father Held Two Years Innocent

JEFFERSON, Ga. (AP) — Jail was a happy place today for Mr. and Mrs. James Fulton Foster and five of their seven children. They were together again under the same roof for the first time in two years.

During those two years Foster twice was sentenced to die in the electric chair in the slaying of a Jefferson merchant. His wife Irene struggled to keep the family going at Greer, S. C., by working in a shirt factory.

Admits Slaying

Then, on Friday, word came that a former Cairo, Ill., policeman had signed a statement in the South Carolina penitentiary admitting the slaying of Charlie Drake, 60, during a robbery attempt.

Sunday night Irene and James held a reunion on the jailhouse lawn. They hugged and kissed and cried in each other's arms, heedless of about 100 onlookers.

After that Irene, 38, said: "We're going to stay here until we can take him back."

Her slim, mild-mannered husband, a 40-year-old house painter, didn't say anything. He knew legal technicalities might delay his release a week or two.

At this point, Sheriff John Brooks invited Mrs. Foster and the five children to stay at the jail, a large rambling house in this small town some 70 miles northeast of Atlanta.

Treated for Injury

Walter Malalik, Warner Road, North Haven, Conn., was treated for an injury to his foot at Kingston Hospital Sunday. The Kingston police department requested the sheriff's office to investigate the cause. It was learned Malalik suffered the injury while loading a game machine at Oneonta for the Coleman Carnival which was en route to Kingston. On reaching Kingston he sought treatment at the local hospital.

Produces New Rebel Captive List in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Sami Solh today produced a new list of rebel captives which he claimed bolstered Lebanon's charges that President Nasser's United Arab Republic is helping the Lebanese rebels. He appealed to "the world's conscience" to pin the blame for the eight-week-old rebellion on U.A.R. intervention.

Solh issued a statement as an atmosphere of tension lay over Beirut, and security forces braced themselves for the possibility of a big battle inside the capital. The Premier made public a list of 50 Syrians and Lebanese rebels he claimed were captured smuggling arms into the country. The government charged they were trained in neighboring Syria, now a U.A.R. province.

Girl, 9, Fatally Shot Not Target of Bullet

NEW YORK (AP)—Police theorized today that the rifle bullet which fatally wounded a 9-year-old Queens girl was not aimed at her. About 30 rifles collected in the neighborhood were examined by police Sunday, but ballistics tests proved none was the death weapon.

The girl, Grace Denezzo, died Saturday night. This was about 24 hours after she was shot in the head as she sat with her family in the driveway of their home in Queens.

An autopsy indicated the bullet traveled a long way before striking the child.

Beach Swim Lessons

Swimming lessons will be given by lifeguards at Kingston Point Beach to the younger age group starting tomorrow. The first is to be given at 11 a. m., and they will be held mornings twice a week after that for youngsters in the age range of seven to 12 years. John Gilligan and Albert Gruner will be in charge.

Plane Survivors Tell of Fighting Pacific Sharks

HONOLULU (AP)—Three survivors of the C124 Air Force transport plane which went down early Friday in mid-Pacific returned here Sunday night to tell of fighting off a school of sharks before they were rescued.

Nine were aboard the plane. One body was recovered and five others are missing and presumed drowned.

Shaken by Shark

Returning here on the aircraft carrier Boxer, which picked up the three survivors 200 miles northeast of Johnston Island, Capt. Jonathan W. Brown, the plane's commander, told newsmen: "One of the sharks got a good hold on me and was shaking me."

"We were pounding the water and yelling and thrashing and kicking around. I was beating on the shark's head with my fist. He finally let go. There were several of them around and they swam away."

Scared by Noise

He said they apparently were put off somewhat by shark repellent from the men's lifejackets and by all the noise.

Returning with Brown were T. Sgt. James M. Phillips, Vacaville, Calif., and S. Sgt. James P. Vanderee, San Rafael, Calif. Both were navigators on the big craft, which was on a flight from Travis Air Force Base in California to Tokyo with a crew of seven plus two military couriers picked up in Hawaii. Brown, who comes from Sioux City, Iowa, lives at Travis AFB, northeast of San Francisco.

Brown, Phillips and Vanderee all had minor cuts, gasoline burns and stains from shark repellent. Brown had a minor shark bite on his left shoulder.

Treated at Hospital

They were taken to the Army's Tripler General Hospital for treatment.

Brown said the big Globemaster ditched 200 miles this side of Johnston Island after the No. 3 engine began backfiring and threw its propeller through the fuselage, cutting off all electric power and communications and crippling all controls except the rudder and elevator. The right wing dipped and the plane broke up into sections as it hit the water.

"It went under immediately. I came up through a hole right above me," Brown said.

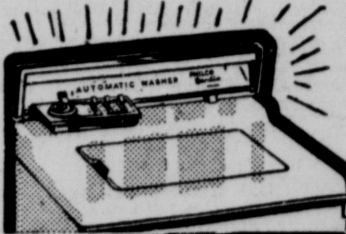

Katrine School Meeting Set Tuesday 7:30 P.M.

Union Free School District No. 4, Town of Ulster, commonly known as Lake Katrine School, will hold its annual meeting in the auditorium of the school Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A budget of $173,817.51 will be offered for adoption. The board of education, after checking the assessed valuation of the district, estimates there will be no tax increase.

The board of education, after checking the assessed valuation of the district, estimates there will be no tax increase. One member of the school board will be elected at the meeting. The term of Joseph J. Benjamin expires at this time.

Radar Demonstration

Demonstrations in the use of radar for traffic safety will be given to Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Acting Police Chief Robert F. Murphy and members of the Common Council's traffic control committee at the city hall tomorrow night. Paul A. Tuohy, a representative of the Laboratory Safety Company, Troy, will demonstrate the devices. The group is due to meet at 7 p. m.
